EDITOR'S PREFACE.

THE Editor of the YEAR BOOK is again indebted to a large number of correspondents for information and suggestions; and if the Secretaries of Congregations, Institutions, and Societies will call his attention to any errors or omissions, the Editor will be greatly obliged to them.

The List of Congregations contains 368 places of worship, including mission rooms and hired halls: 290 in England, 39 in Ireland, 7 in Scotland, and 32 in Wales. There are (December, 1900) 30 vacant pulpits.

The List of Ministers contains 361 names, including a few laymen. Of these 284 are in charge of congregations, 14 are employed as editors, secretaries, or college tutors, 39 have retired owing to infirmity or old age. There are (December, 1900) 24 ministers open to accept appointments.

The names of 14 ministers which appeared last year are omitted from the present issue—9 owing to death, 1 on account of his having gone abroad, 4 because they have resigned or withdrawn. Of the ministers in the list 102 were educated at Manchester College, 98 at the Unitarian Home Missionary College; 11 of the latter proceeded afterwards to Manchester College.

The names of the following ministers appear in the Year Book for the first time:—Charles Harvey Cook, formerly a Congregational minister; W. Harold Davies, formerly a Baptist minister; Alfred Davison, educated at the Unitarian Home Missionary College; E. Savell Hicks, B.A., educated at Manchester College; C. J. Sneath, formerly of the Anglican Church; William Wilson, a Lay-preacher and worker; J. H. Woods, M.A., educated at Manchester College.

Liturgies are used by 110 congregations, chiefly the Ten Services in the older or newer form. The Essex Hall Hymnal is used by 113 congregations; Hymns for the Christian Church and Home by 72; and Hymns of Praise and Prayer by 72 congregations. In Ireland nearly all the churches use Hymns for Christian Worship; in Wales, 'Pearls of Praise' is used by the majority of the congregations. A few congregations use the Berwick Lymnal, revised by the Rev. Charles Hargrove, M.A., Leeds.

Connected with the Churches and Missions there are 248 Sunday Schools n England, 29 in Wales, 7 in Scotland, and 35 in Ireland—319 in all.

The death of Dr. Martineau in January, the Meetings of the National Triennial Conference at Leicester in April, the London Unitarian Bazaar and the Jubilee of the London District Society in May, the formation of an International Council of Unitarians and other Liberal Religious Thinkers and Workers at Boston, U.S.A., the Bi-Centenary Celebrations at Antrim, Chester, Hindley, Ipswich, and Sheffield—these are among the chief denominational events of the past year.

The British and Foreign Unitarian Association through its Committee has done a large amount of useful work at home and abroad; and the Association is highly esteemed for the services it has rendered to the cause of a free, progressive, and helpful religious faith. In addition to the ordinary work of publishing and circulating books and pamphlets, and making grants in aid of the building of churches and the salaries of ministers, an important work has been done in India by means of a separate fund. The special services by the Rev. Stopford A. Brooke have also been continued; and the Committee have recently availed themselves of the services of the Rev. J. Estlin Carpenter, who delivered an exceedingly able and interesting course of Lectures in London on 'The Bible in the Nineteenth Century.' The Lectures will be delivered early in 1901 at Bolton, Leeds, and Liverpool.

An attractive programme for the Twentieth Century Festival Meetings of the Lritish and Foreign Unitarian Association, the Sunday School Association, and the International Council of Unitarians and other Liberal Religious Thinkers and Workers, is in course of preparation. The meetings will be held in London from the 25th to the 31st of May, 1901. The first great gathering will be the Breakfast of the Sunday School Association, at the King's Hall, Holborn, on the morning of Tuesday, 28th May. This will be followed by meetings on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, 29th, 30th, and 31st May, 1901, at which distinguished preachers and teachers from America and the Continent will take part.

The President of the American Unitarian Association, the Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, D.D., sums up the principles and work of Unitarians in these words:—'It is our privilege to cherish what has been proved good in the past, and at the same time to welcome the infusion of new thoughts and methods; ours to treasure the noble traditions, and at the same time to believe in the inspiration of the present; ours to preserve a goodly heritage, and also to be in thorough sympathy with our own age,—think with it, hope with it, speak its language, share its spirit. Let us yield ourselves to the guidance of the Ever-present Spirit that is older than the oldest, younger than the youngest, and cannot be outgrown. Let us trust the daily renewal of the Holy Spirit who bids us plant and gather new harvests of truth and beauty wherewith to nourish and regenerate our fellow-men.'

THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE.

OFFICERS: 1900-1903.

President:

Rev. J. ESTLIN CARPENTER, M.A.

Vice-Presidents:

James R. Beard, Esq., J.P.; W. Blake Odgers, Esq., Q.C., LL.D.

Hon. Treasurer:

Howard Chatfelld Clarke, Esq., 6, Kensington-gardens-square, London, W. Hon. Secretaries:

A. W. Worthington, Esq., J.P., Rev. F. W. Stanley, Rev. J. Ellis.

Acting Hon. Secretary:

CHARLES FENTON, Esq., Cranford, Vineyard-hill, Wimbledon, S.W.

'The National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-Subscribing or Kindred Congregations' had its origin in the example set by the Unitarians of the United States of America, who had organized a 'National Conference of Unitarian and other Christian Churches' in 1865. At a Council Meeting of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, held on January 19th, 1881, it was resolved:—'That the Executive Committee be requested to consider the possibility and desirableness of holding a Unitarian Conference in England, and to ascertain the feeling of the larger Congregations, and report to the next Meeting of the Council.' On June 24th, 1881, at the Meeting of the Council, a Committee was formed to make arrangements for a meeting of Ministers and Laymen in some central district for religious fellowship and conference.

The first Conference was held at Liverpool in 1882; the second at Birmingham in 1885; the third at Leeds in 1888; the fourth at London in 1891; the fifth at Manchester in 1894; the sixth at Sheffield in 1897; and the seventh at Leicester in April, 1900.

A special Meeting of the Conference was held in London in 1897 to consider proposals for extending its influence and enlarging the scope of its work. The following Resolution was adopted:—'That the Committee of the Triennial Conference having been constituted on a basis by which it represents the various Congregations and Associations which form the Conference, it is hereby resolved that the Committee be instructed to hold regular meetings to consult and, when considered advisable, to take action in matters affecting the well-being and interests of the congregations and societies which form the Conference, as by directing attention, suggesting plans, organising expressions of opinion, raising funds to carry out the foregoing objects, or summoning, if it deem it needful, a special meeting of the Conference. Further, that the Committee shall present to each Conference a full report of its proceedings and the action it has taken for the approval or otherwise of the Conference.'

The Congregations in the list of Churches given in this Year Book may appoint the minister and one delegate to attend the meetings of the Conference. The British and Foreign Unitarian Association and all district and local Unitarian Societies also send delegates. The Conference is intended to be representative of the Churches: the British and Foreign Unitarian Association is governed by its individual subscribers.

LIST OF MINISTERS.

The following list gives the names and addresses of (a) persons who have charge of Unitarian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-subscribing Churches and Mission Stations in Great Britain and Ireland; (b) ministers formerly so settled, not having been merely lay-workers, not connected with any other denomination, and who have not withdrawn from the profession; (c) certificated alumni of our Colleges who seek pulpit duty.

The following contractions are used in the column 'College':—M.N.C.=Manchester New College (altered in 1893 to Manchester College, M.C.O.), Oxford; H.M.C.=Unitarian Home Missionary College (altered from Board in 1899), Manchester; Car.=Presbyterian College, Carmarthen; Ow.C.=Owen's College, Manchester; U.C.=University College, London. The others explain themselves.

The names of ministers not in charge of any congregation are printed in italics. Many of these are employed in various ways; others, on account of age or infirmity, or for other reasons, do not desire a settlement.

LIST OF CONGREGATIONS.

This List includes (a) all duly organised Unitarian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-subscribing Congregations and Missions in Great Britain and Ireland; (b) Pioneer Movements holding regular meetings for worship; (c) Chapels or other places of worship closed at present, but not finally given up. 'Founded' means the year in which a worshipping society was first organise?, which is not necessarily the date of the present building. Where two dates are given, the second refers to the present building. [For explanation of Hymn Books see opposite page.]

[†] Founded originally in 1795 as an Evangelical Union Church.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION.

History.—The British and Foreign Unitarian Association was constituted in 1825. It arose out of the union of three Societies which had been supported by Unitarians in all parts of the kingdom: (1) The Unitarian Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge and the Practice of Virtue, by the Distribution of Books, founded in 1791; (2) The Unitarian Fund, established in 1806, which may be regarded as the most important; and (3) The Association for Protecting the Civil Rights of Unitarians, formed in 1819.

Management.—The Association is managed by a representative Committee elected annually by the whole body of its members.

Grants of Money.—The Association assists many of the older churches in need of help, it makes grants in aid of new churches, and in the maintenance of missionary work in various places at home and abroad. The whole annual income, derived from collections and subscriptions, is expended in grants of money for missionary objects.

Grants of Pamphlets.—The Committee print and publish, from time to time, a great variety of Pamphlets, illustrative of Unitarian Christianity; and grants are treely made to individual inquirers, congregations, missionary societies, and postal missions. 87,219 pamphlets were distributed in this way during 1899.

Publication of Books.—The Committee also print and publish books of liberal religion and theology. Among recent publications the following may be named: 'A Book of Daily Strength,' by V. D. Davis, B.A.; 'Religion in Literature and Religion in Life,' by Stopford A. Brooke, M.A., LL.D.; 'Seven Services for Public Worship,' compiled by W. Copeland Bowie; 'Jesus of Nazareth,' by Charles Hargrove, M.A.; 'A Handbook for Ministers of Religion,' compiled by W. Copeland Bowie Spiritual Perspective and other Sermons.' by Charles J. Perry, B.A (Second Edition). They have also issued Hymn and Chant Books for the use of congregations, and they publish the Essex Hall Year Book

Co-operation with local Associations.—The Committee work in co-operation with the various District and Local Associations in different parts of the country. They have given liberal support in aid of Mission ary work in the Manchester District, Northumberland and Durham, the South and West of England, the Midlands, South Wales, London and the South-Eastern counties, and elsewhere.

Foreign Work.—Grants have been given to assist the Unitarian caus in Australia, Belgium, Denmark, Hungary, New Zealand, and other places From July 1st, 1896, a Special Fund for Mission Work in India was opened to which all expenditure for India is now charged. The Rev. S. F. Williams is the representative of the Association in India.

Civil Rights of Unitarians.—The Association guards the civil an religious rights and privileges of Unitarians; for instance, when attempt were made recently to teach Trinitarian and other sectarian doctrine in rate-supported schools, the Committee took an active part in counteracting this retrograde movement.

This institution was founded in 1854, by the late Rev. Dr. J. R. Beard and others, "to assist young men of earnest and religious character, active habits, and benevolent disposition, in training themselves for the work of spreading the Gospel of Christ among the people, especially among the ignorant and sinful." It has for some years been located in the Memorial Hall, Albert Square, Manchester. While still endeavouring to carry out its original purpose, the institution has gradually developed into importance as the second chief Training College for the Unitarian ministry. It is supported by invested funds and subscriptions, chiefly by the latter. The students attend certain classes at Owens College. The institution was established under the title of the Unitarian Home Missionary Board, but at a special meeting of members, held October 7th, 1889, it was decided that it should henceforward be called the Unitarian Home Missionary College. At the same meeting a draft of Revised Rules recommended by the Committee was submitted, and adopted with some slight amendments. The preamble of the constitution as finally adopted was as follows:—"The object of the institution is, to assist in the education of young men for the work of preaching the Gospel and promoting practical Christianity among the people, especially the poor, the untaught, and the neglected. The institution adheres to the principle of freely imparting theological knowledge, without insisting on the adoption of particular theological doctrines." The more important of the new rules are the following:—

two years, each year comprising three academical terms.

(a) After having completed the Arts Curriculum;

or, (b) After having obtained a degree;

aptitude for the work of the ministry.

Such other subjects as may, in the opinion of the Committee and Principal, be, from time to time, desirable in the case of students intending to take a degree.

OCCASIONAL STUDENTS.—Certain Courses of Lectures in each Session may be open to occasional Students, upon such terms and conditions as the Committee may appoint.

The Tate Scholarship in connection with the College is of the annual value of £60, and is tenable for three years. It was founded by the late Sir Henry Tate, Bart., in 1878. The Tate Scholar must pursue his studies at Owens College, or at some other place of education to be approved of by the Trustees, with a view of afterwards passing on to Manchester College, Oxford, either as a regular Student for its whole Theological course, or as an occasional Student, taking such classes as its Professors may determine.

THE GASKELL SCHOLARSHIP in connection with the College was founded in 1879. It is of the annual value of £70. The tenure of the Scholarship extends over twelve months. The candidates for the Scholarship must be students of the Unitarian Home Missionary College of at least one year's standing.

THE DURNING SMITH SCHOLARSHIP in connection with the College is of the annual value of £90. It was founded in 1895 by Miss J. SUGGESTED TRUST DEED.

Nearly all Unitarian and Free Christian Churches possess what are known as 'Open Trust Deeds.' The land, buildings, and endowments (if any) are held in Trust for the worship of God, and for the religious, moral, or intellectual improvement of the Congregation for the time being vorshipping there, and for its general benevolent objects.

In drafting a New Trust Deed care should be taken to clearly state that if any question should at any time arise as to the purposes for which the said Church or Chapel may lawfully be used, the widest meaning should be attached to the trust aforesaid, so that neither by reference to the actual or supposed opinions of the founders, nor otherwise, shall any restriction be imposed on the liberty of the congregation for the time being to change its opinions with regard to religious doctrines or modes of regulating worship.

The deed should be settled by a solicitor, who will consider questions of consideration, enrolment, etc.

[Always having regard to the provisions of the Trust Deed.]

TRUSTEES, APPOINTMENT OF NEW.

Whenever the instrument creating the Trust specifies the manner in which and the person by whom new trustees are to be appointed the method thus prescribed, and no other, should be adopted. If no method of appointment is prescribed in the trust-deed, or if the prescribed method has lapsed by reason of the death or absence of the appointor, then in the case of chapels, schools, manses, and burial grounds (but not otherwise), the Trustees' Appointment Act, 1850 (13 and 14 Vict. c. 28), (otherwise known as Sir Morton Peto's Act), and the Acts extending this (32 and 33 Vict. c. 26, and 53 and 54 Vict. c. 19), afford a simple and efficacious mode of appointing new trustees by a resolution passed at a meeting of the congregation duly convened and held and a memorandum in the form given in the Schedule to that Act signed and sealed by the Chairman at the meeting and in the presence of two witnesses. If this memorandum be duly filled up and executed in accordance with the Act, it operates both as an appointment and a conveyance, the trust-property vesting at once in the old and new trustees jointly without any formal deed. A ten shilling stamp is sufficient. In cases which are not within these Acts, recourse must be had to the Conveyancing Act, 1881 (extended by the Trustees' Appointment Act, 1890), which provides that where no method of appointment is prescribed by the instrument creating the trust or where the person in whom that instrument vests the power of appointment is unable or unwilling to act, the surviving or continuing trustees and trustee, or the personal representative of the last surviving or continuing trustee, may by writing appoint. If the appointment be by deed it may contain a declaration under section 34 of the Conveyancing Act which will operate to vest the property in the Trustees without any other conveyance. A 20s. stamp is necessary. If none of these modes of appointment are feasible, resort should be had to the powers of the Charity Commissioners, and in the last instance to the Chancery Division of the High Court, though this latter course should not be adopted without a certificate of its necessity from the Commissioners. [The Office of the Charity Commissioners for England and Wales is at Gwydyr House, Whitehall, London, S.W.] The form of appointment under Peto's Act is:—

LEGAL INFORMATION.

From 'A Handbook for Ministers of Religion,' by W. Copeland Bowie.

Registration of Births and Deaths.

Births.—Parents are required to see to the registration of Births (at the Registrar's office for the district in which they reside) within six weeks, under a penalty of 40s. for default. There is no charge for such registration, unless the Registrar attends, by a written request, at the house of the parents, when he becomes entitled to a fee of 1s. In default of the parents, the occupier of the house in which the child was born, and other persons, are held responsible for giving information to the Registrar. After the lapse of three months from the date of birth, the registration can only be effected by paying fees of

2s. 6d. each to the Registrar and Superintendent-Registrar.

Deaths must be registered within five days, but registration may be delayed for fourteen days provided written information of the death, together with a medical certificate of its cause, be forwarded to the Registrar within five days. The nearest relative present at the death or during the last illness is the responsible person, or should there be no relative present, then the occupier of the house, or the person who causes the body to be buried. Penalty for default, 40s. The doctor's certificate must be produced to the Registrar at the time of registration, and the Registrar's certificate to the officiating Minister at the interment. No fee is payable if the informants attend at the Registrar's office, but he becomes entitled to a fee of 1s. if he attends by request at their houses.

Registration of Chapels.

Ordinary Registration.—All dissenting places of worship should be registered. Registration is effected by giving a certificate in writing that the chapel is used for worship to the Superintendent-Registrar of the District on a form which he will supply on application. The fee on registration is 2s. 6d., and a certified copy of the Registrar-General's certificate of the Registration can be obtained for a further payment of 2s. 6d. The Registers can at any time be inspected at the Superintendent-Registrar's office on payment of a fee of 1s. Registered places of worship are exempt from the provisions of the Charitable Trusts Acts. When a place of worship is rebuilt, either on the same or another site, the old certificate of registration must be cancelled and the place re-registered.

Registration of Chapels for Marriages.—A place of worship must, before marriages can legally be celebrated therein, in addition to being registered as above mentioned, be separately registered for the performance of marriages. Before registering a place for marriages, the Superintendent-Registrar of the district must be satisfied by certificate that the building has been used for worship for one year previous to the application. A fee of £3 is ayable, and the Registration is advertised in the London Gazette and in a local newspaper. When a chapel ceases to be used for worship or is rebuilt, the ertificate is cancelled, and in that case it requires to be renewed if worship is resumed. When a congregation has removed from one chapel to another, and he old building has ceased to be used as a place of public worship, the certificate of the old chapel may be cancelled, and the new building registered for the colemnisation of marriages, without waiting for a year to elapse. All necessary forms and information will be supplied by the Superintendent-Registran of the District.

Marriage Laws.

England and Wales.—Marriages may be solemnised in any registered building, or in a district registry office either by certificate or by licence If by certificate, notice (accompanied with fee of 1s. for entry in 'Marriage Notice Book') must be given by one of the parties, if both live in one district to the Superintendent-Registrar, on form furnished for purpose, containing soleum declaration of absence of impediment to intended marriage, certifying that one of the parties has dwelt at least seven days in district, and musbe signed in presence of Registrar or deputy; but if parties live in different districts, notices must be sent to respective Superintendent-Registrars Twenty-one clear days after entry of notice the certificate (for which 1s. musbe paid) will be granted on application.

The same applies if one party lives in Ireland, only notice must be given on form used in Ireland. If one party lives in Scotland, Scotch certificate o proclamation of bauns will be accepted as equal to certificate.

If by licence, though both parties do not dwell in same district, only on need give notice (on a form impressed with a 2s. 6d. stamp), certifying that he or she has resided at least lifteen days in district, though marriage may be held in district of either party. Both parties, however, must be in England at time of notice, though only one clear day is required (unless marriage take place in Ireland with some one there, when seven days are required) between notice and granting of licence. Cost of licence, £2 4s. 6d.

If there be no registered building in the district according to rites of ceremonies desired by parties, by endorsing notice with such declaration marriage may be held in another district.

If usual 'place of worship' at which ceremony is desired, be out of district of either's dwelling, by inserting words:—' Such building being usual place of worship of said—, and situate not more than two miles beyond limits of district of ----, certificate will be granted accordingly.

The marriage must take place in registered building specified in certificate with open doors, between the hours of eight in the morning and three in the afternoon, within three calendar months from day of entry of notice, i presence of Registrar (or his deputy, or, if the Marriage Act of 1898 has bee adopted, in the presence of the Authorised person) and two or more credible witnesses besides minister, if any. At some part of ceremony the words must be said:—'I do solemnly declare that I know not of any lawful impedimentally in the may not be joined in matrimony to—'; and each must say to other: 'I call upon these persons here present to witness that I — do take thee—to be my lawful wedded wife (or husband)'; without which it is not a marriage.

Registrar's fee for attending marriage by certificate, 5s.; by licence, 10s.

for copy of certificate, 2s. 6d., and stamp 1d.

Ireland.—Marriages according to the form and discipline of the Presbyterian Church may be celebrated—

1. By special licence;

2. By licence; or

3. After publication of banns.

(1.) In the first case 'Both parties must be members of the same. Church as the Moderator who grants the Special Licence,'—that is to satthe Remonstrant Synod of Ulster, the Presbytery of Antrim, and the Synod of Munster, are treated as three separate denominations, and the Moderator of each has the privilege of granting special licences to the members of his own body.

(2.) Ordinary licences can be granted when only one of the parties is a Presbyterian. Each Presbytery is authorised to appoint, subject to the approval of the Lord Lieutenant, a sufficient number of Presbyterian ministers to issue licences for marriage in meeting-houses duly certified, in connection with the Presbytery.

Anyone wishing to obtain a licence must, seven days before the licence shall be delivered to him or her, produce to the licensing minister a certificate from the minister of the congregation of which he or she shall be a member and has been a member for at least one calendar month preceding. This congregation must be in connection with the Presbytery to which the licensing minister belongs.

(3.) When both parties are Presbyterians, marriages may be celebrated after the banns have been proclaimed for three Sundays in the Presbyterian meeting-houses attended by each of the parties.

The presence of the Registrar is not required at a marriage celebrated in a place of worship whether Presbyterian or otherwise.

Scotland.—The ceremony can be performed by the minister of any denomination, in any place, at any time, with or without any particular form. The law has been amended so as to put an end, as far as possible, to what were known as 'irregular' marriages. Legal notice must now be given to the Registrar of the parish or district, as in England, the names of the conracting parties being exhibited for seven days on the notice board outside, the office of the Registrar in whose district the parties have resided for at east fifteen days immediately preceding. At the expiration of the period named a certificate will be granted, and on this the marriage may take place either in a church or elsewhere. Any person who has resided for at least wenty-one days in Scotland may be married by going to the Registrar's office in which he or she may reside, accompanied by two witnesses who can sertify as to the term of residence, and exchanging written contract with the marriage registered.

Burial Laws.

office of the Clerk of the Burial Board.

In the case of a pauper, notice may be given to the incumbent, or the chaplain, and also to the master of the workhouse, or to the clerk to the Guardians, by the husband, wife, or next of kin. The Guardians will be bound to allow the burial to be in accordance with the Act.

It is not necessary that the elergyman should consent to a burial under the @Act. He can object only to the time proposed, and do that only in certain @cases. Unless it be otherwise mutually arranged, burials must be between 10 and 6 o'clock from April 1st to October 1st, and between 10 and 3 from misdemeanour.

To the Rector for, as the case may be of

Some inconvenience has arisen by confounding this certificate of burial with the Registrar's certificate of death. The law in regard to the latter remains as it was previous to the passing of the Act of 1880, except that the Births and Deaths Registration Act, 1874, sec. 17, is amended, in the case of burials under the Act of 1880, and the Registrar's certificate must be delivered, not to the officiating minister, but to the person in charge of the funeral; who, if he so choose, retains it. The Registrar's certificate is not resential to an interment taking place; for the Burials Act of 1880 expressly provides that if the person in charge of the funeral has not received it within seven days after the interment, he must give notice to the Registrar.

The clergy of the Church of England are at liberty to use the burial service of that Church in any unconsecrated burial ground, or in the chapel therein. The relatives may have such service performed in unconsecrated ground by my clergyman of the Church of England who may be willing to perform the same.

In cases where the Church of England service cannot legally be used, and n any other case, at the request of the relatives, the clergy may use some other than the ordinary burial service of the Church of England, provided that it as been approved by the Bishop, and is taken wholly from the Bible and Prayer-Book.

The Act of 1880 does not entitle any one to be buried in any place in which he would have no right to be buried if the Act had not passed.

When permission to bury a non-parishioner is given, the service may be onducted under the Act. The incumbent has no legal right to make his onsent to the burial of a non-parishioner dependent on the service being onducted by himself, or some other clergyman.

Neither does it affect previously existing regulations or authority in regard the position of graves, inscriptions on gravestones, &c. The same fees ill also have to be paid as though the burial were conducted by a clergyman.

The Act of 1890 applies only to England and Wales and the Channel slands.

Burial Grounds Act, 1900.—This Act, which received the royal assent uly 10th, 1900, and comes into operation January 1st, 1901, modifies the ct of 1880 by rendering the forty-eight hours notice no longer necessary the case of the consecrated parts of parochial cemeteries. The Act does it deal with churchyards. In future, burial boards 'may, if they think fit,' ply to have a portion of the cemetery consecrated; formerly they were mpelled to have a portion consecrated. Burial boards are no longer melled to creet two cemetery chapels, one for Anglicans and one for Non-aformists. They may erect any chapel 'they may consider necessary'; it any chapel so erected 'shall not be consecrated, or reserved for the clusive use of any denomination.' The payment of fees to an incumbent a parish will no longer be required 'except for services rendered by him.'

a parish will no longer be required 'except for services rendered by him,' future, when a Nonconformist minister officiates in the consecrated part a parochial cemetery, he, and not the clergyman, will receive the fee. is provisions apply to cemeteries opened after the passing of the Act. the case of cemeteries already existing the old fees will continue to be acted for fifteen years, or on the vacating of the incumbency, whichever is e longer period.

Charitable Trusts, Investments, etc.

Charitable Trusts.—The Acts relating to Charitable Trusts give the Charity Commissioners very extensive jurisdiction over all charitable trusts (except certain exempted charities), and empower the Commissioners to inquire into the management of charities, to oblige their trustees to render accounts, to advise such trustees on the administration of the trusts, to authorise or direct legal proceedings to be taken, to authorise the granting of leases and making of improvements, and raising of money by mortgage, to authorise trustees to remove schoolmasters and other officers, to authorise the sale, exchange, or partitions of lands, to remove and appoint trustees, and to make new schemes for the administration of charities. Among the charities exempted from the operations of these Acts are any buildings registered as places of meeting for religious worship with the Registrar-General of Births, Deaths, and Marriages, and bonâ fide used as places of meeting for religious worship. Exempted charities can, by application under certain sections of one of the Acts, have the benefits of the Acts extended to them.

Dissenters' Chapels Act.—It is under this Act (7 & 8 Vict., c. 45), passed 19th July, 1844, that many of the old Presbyterian Chapels are secured to the Unitarians. The Act provides in substance that where there is no express statement in the deed of foundation as to the particular doctrines for which a chapel was to be employed, twenty-five years' usage shall be conclusive.

Dissenters in Established Church Pulpits.—The Act by which it is considered that the Clergy are restrained from inviting Dissenters to occupy their pulpits is the Act of Uniformity of 1662 (13 & 14 Car. II., c. 14). By this Act no one may act or preach as a lecturer (in which capacity it is conceived a Dissenter or layman would appear, if so invited to preach) without a licence from the Bishop, and it has been decided that the discretion of the Bishop to grant or withhold his licence cannot be questioned. Any lecturer who acts in contravention of this enactment "shall suffer three months' imprisonment without bail or mainprize." No penalty, however, appears to be incurred by a parson inviting or permitting an unlicensed lecturer to use his pulpit; though a Bishop who grants a licence to anyone who has not first subscribed to the Three Articles concerning "the King's supremacy, the Book of Common Prayer, and the 39 Articles," will have to suffer the serious inconvenience of being suspended from giving licences to preach for the space of twelve months.

Land, Gifts and Sales of.—The law relating to gifts and sales of land and other property for charitable uses (amongst which are included the erection of chapels, schools, &c.), has been recently consolidated by the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict., c. 73), but is still very complicated No attempt should be made to give effect to sales of more than two acres of land, or to gifts for such purposes without rempetrnt legal advice. Land no exceeding two acres in extent may be conveyed to "trustees on behalf of any society or body of persons associated together for religious purposes," "for the erection thereon of a building for such purposes has been erected," without any special formalities, provided that such conveyance be made in good faith, for full and valuable consideration. It is no longer necessary to enrol either the conveyance or the deed declaring the trusts, though the trustees may enrosuch deed if they think fit. Any property, except lands, tenements and hereditaments, and personal property directed to be laid out in them, may be assured to charity, either for value or as a gift, and either by deed or will, without restriction of any kind.

Oaths Act, 1888.—The Act to amend the Law as to Oaths, passed on the 24th December, 1888, enacts that every person upon objecting to being sworn, and stating, as the ground of such objection, either that he has no religious belief, or that the taking of an oath is contrary to his religious belief, shall be permitted to make his solemn affirmation instead of taking an oath, in all places and for all purposes where an oath is or shall be required by law, which affirmation shall be of the same force and effect as if he had taken the oath. Every such affirmation shall be as follows:—"I, A. B., do solemnly, sincerely, and truly declare and affirm," and then proceed with the words of the oath prescribed by law, omitting any words of imprecation or calling to witness. If any person to whom an oath is administered desires to swear with uplifted hand in the form and manner in which an oath is usually administered in Scotland, he shall be permitted to do so, and the oath shall be administered to him in such form and manner without further question.

Rates, Exemption from.—By 3 & 4 Will. IV., cap. 30, all churches, chapels, meeting-houses, or premises exclusively appropriated to public religious worship, and which are duly certified for such purpose, are exempted from the payment of Poor and Church rates. But such parts of the premises as are not so exclusively appropriated, and from which any rent, profit, or advantage is received, are liable to be rated. By the Public Health Act 1875 the incumbent or minister of any building already exempt by law from poor rates shall not be liable to rates for paying, sewering, or lighting. The provisions of this Act do not apply to the Metropolis. By 32 & 33 Vict., cap. 40, authorities having power to levy any rate may exempt any building used exclusively as a Sunday-school or Ragged-school. The exemption is in the option of the authorities.

Recent Statutes.—The Acts of Parliament of 55 & 56 Vict. may be usefully consulted on the following subjects: Chapter 11, Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act Amendment; Chapter 15, Charity Inquiries (Expenses); Chapter 23, Foreign Marriage; Chapter 32, Clergy Discipline Act, 1892.

Registers, Dissenting, of Births, Baptisms, Marriages, Deaths, and Burials. - These registers and records, which were collected, examined and approved by a Royal Commission, are now deposited in the custody of the Registrar-General, at the Non-Parochial Register Office, Somerset House, London, which, for the purposes of the Act of 3 & 4 Vict., c. 92, is deemed a branch or part of the General Register Office. Searches and extracts from these registers and records will be granted on every day except Sundays, Christmas Day, and Good Friday, between the hours of ten and four, upon personal application only, and payment of legal fees. Applications by letter for search or extract cannot be complied with. Persons residing in the country, therefore, who may require searches of certificates, must, of necessity, apply to a friend in London, or employ an agent. All other communications by letter, on the subject of the above-mentioned registers and records, must be addressed to the "Registrar-General, General Register Office, London;" and git is requested that the words "Non-Parochial Registers" may be written on the outside of all such letters, the postage of which may be left unpaid. The afee for each search is 1s., and for each certificate, 2s. 6d.

Sites for Chapels.—By the Places of Worship Sites' Act, 1873, amended by an Act of 1883, owners of settled estates, corporations, and officers, trustees, and commissioners holding land for public purposes, are empowered, within certain limitations, to grant sites for places of religious worship, residences for ministers, and burial grounds.

Trustees' Incorporation Act.—35 & 36 Vict., c. 24.—This Act, entitled "An Act to facilitate the Incorporation of Trustees of Charities for Religious, Educational, Literary, Scientific, and Public Charitable Purposes, and the Enrolment of certain Charitable Trust-Deeds," was passed 27th June, 1872. The object of the Act is to facilitate the incorporation of the charities indicated in the title, and to diminish the expense of enrolment under an Act passed in the thirtieth year of the reign of Her present Majesty. Owing to the option of granting a certificate being by the Act vested in the Charity Commissioners for England and Wales, and to the latter having held that such certificate should be refused in cases where the property might be vested in the official trustee of the Commissioners under the Charity Commission Acts, the Incorporation Act has become practically useless.

In the English Literature Classes the principles of literary criticism are kept before the boys. The books in the School Library are selected with the utmost care, due consideration being given to literary worth. The pupils are carefully advised and helped in their reading, and an honest and systematic effort is made to cultivate an appreciation of what is good and a sound literary judgment.

Careful and individual attention is given to physical training.

The whole system of school recreation is compulsory. The playing fields surround the School buildings, and offer ample space for Cricket and Football. The changing rooms are on the ground floor, and include shower baths (hot and cold water). The gymnasium is fifty feet long and thirty-two feet broad. An instructor is in attendance. The single fives court is sixteen feet by thirty-two. The double court is eighteen feet by thirty-two. The courts are roofed, lighted from above, and have a spectators' gallery. They are available in all states of the weather. Boys are encouraged to bring bicycles to the school—the county offering great facilities for riding. A cycle house for the proper accommodation of machines is provided.

A kitchen and fruit and flower garden left in admirable order by the Founder of the School has been retained. There is also some glass and a vinery. Boys are taught practical gardening in the grounds under the School head gardener. This forms a regular part of the School course for all, and is supplemented by instruction in botany.

Until a separate building is completed as a workshop, carpenters' benches are placed in the gymnasium, for manual instruction. Photography is encouraged—a properly-equipped dark room is at the disposal of the boys.

Examinations will take place at Christmas and Midsummer. The latter will be conducted by an examiner appointed by the Oxford and Cambridge Board, who will inspect the School and report upon its work. Parents will be furnished with reports of the boys three times a year.

Fees.—For Boarders, £100 per annum (inclusive), or £33 6s. 8d. a term (inclusive). (This does not include the teaching of instrumental music.)

For Day Boys, £12 12s. a term (Tuition only).

Foundationers.—In accordance with the wishes of the Founder, provision is made for a certain number of boys as Foundationers, for whom the fees will only be one-half the full fees. These Founder's Exhibitions are available in the case of a boy whose parent or guardian was, at the time of the boy's admission to the School, a minister or a member of some congregation in England statedly assembling for the public worship of God, and imposing no obligation upon any member thereof (whether minister, member, or otherwise) to subscribe or assent to any articles or article of religious belief, or to submit to any test of religious doctrine. But the Governing Body in all cases to have power to decide, in their absolute and uncontrollable discretion, whether any parent or guardian was or was not a member of any such congregation as aforesaid; with power also to admit the sons or wards of persons who might be personally in full sympathy with, although they respectively might not actually be members for the time being of any such congregation as aforesaid.

Addis, W. E., M.A.

CHRISTIANITY AND THE ROMAN EMPIRE. Cloth 2/6.

The Review of Reviews says:—'The daily crop of small manuals seldom inspires any great respect; but Mr. Addis's manual is an exceptionally good little work. He deals with many points, and puts many things, people and events in their right places, all within a few pages; and yet the result is a real book, not a mass of notes. He writes on the condition of the Roman Empire, the diffusion of Christianity, the legal position of Christians, the Apologists, the Gnostics, and internal changes in the Christian body. There is considerable elevenness in the choice and arrangement of the materials, and Mr. Addis is also scrupulously fair-minded.'

SUNDAY LESSONS FOR INFANTS. Cloth 1/6. Illustrated.

Intended for the use of parents and teachers.

The Inquirer says:—'They are useful little lessons on Natural History; the object of the whole series, to quote the words of the author, being, "first, to lead the children, through their faculties of admiration and wonder, from the marvels of creation to the Great Creator, so that their hearts may grow in love and trusting obedience to Him who doeth all things well; and secondly, to urge them to be faithful to duty and helpful and loving to one another." The lessons are on such useful and familiar subjects as the Earth and the Sky, the Sea, Birds, Beasts, and Fishes, Flowers, etc., and there is an excellent preliminary chapter for teachers.'

A YEAR OF SUNDAY LESSONS. Based on the Two Great Commandments, Love to God and Love to Man. Reprinted from 'The Helper,' 1899. Limp cloth, 6d. net; postage 2d.

This series is intended to supply a kind of Treasure Store of suggestive lessons. For those parents and teachers who wish to have some sequence in their lessons throughout the whole year, the opportunity is here afforded them of following out a course with system and method; but at the same time, the divisions are so arranged that a course of four to twelve lessons may be easily selected, or even a single one separated from the rest.

The Book of Beginnings, or Stories from Genesis, and How to Teach Them. Cloth gilt, 2/- net: by post 2/3; school edition, plain cloth, 1/- net; postage 3d. 12 copies for 10/-, carriage unpaid.

The Christian World says: 'The Book of Beginnings; or, Stories from Genesis, by Marian Pritchard, is a specimen of that class of literature the need of which is being felt by all religious schools, in which the new knowledge about the Bible is adapted to the religious teaching of the young. In her introduction the author appropriately quotes from Dean Farrar's recent article in The Christian World on the 'Bible and the Child' as illustrating the necessity for work of this kind. The book is well-planned. The selections from Genesis are given unaltered, in large type, preceded in each case by a brightly-written statement of what in the author's view, the Biblical story amounts to for the modern reader. At the end of each Scripture passage are placed moral and religious reflections for use by the teacher, and there is a collection of able critical notes at the end of the book.'

THE FIRST THREE GOSPELS: THEIR ORIGIN AND RELATIONS. Second edition. Cloth 3/6.

Second edition. Cloth 3/6.

Presentation edition. Half morocco, gilt edges 7/6.

'It is certainly no ordinary text-book, and the public at large would do well to read it and ponder some of the problems it suggests. The real interest lies in the patient and, to the reader, fascinating endeavour which he makes to get behind the Gospels, and behind the Church, to the actual words of Jesus, and to the facts out of which the Church sprang. Nothing can be more interesting. —Mrs. Humphry Ward in Nineteenth Century.

LIFE IN PALESTINE WHEN JESUS LIVED. Fourth edition. Ninth thousand. Cloth 1/-.

The Schoolmaster says: 'This is perhaps the best shilling's worth of information on the Holy Land that we ever came across. Carefully written, a pleasing subject has been surrounded with additional interest, and a useful handbook to the first three gospels is now ready for public perusal. It does not require to read more than half-a-dozen pages to feel that our attention is not likely to flar during the rest of the volume. The country, people, Government, and religion are all discussed in turn—nothing hurried or curvailed, every sub-division given its due share, and the result is a whole upon which the author may fairly be congratulated. It only needs that the book have a good sale to be appreciated as we feel it.

The Method of Creation. A comparison of the Book of Nature with the Book of Genesis. Second edition.

Fourth thousand. Cloth 1/-.

The views inculcated are those of the best scientific writers, and we rejoice that so sensibly written a little manual is accessible. It should be in large demand, for it supplies a readable and easily-grasped explanation of the main difficulties that occur to the mind in reading the Mosaic account of the Creation.'—Literary World.

OUR FAITH: STUDIES IN RELIGION.

The Temples and Churches of many Lands—Our Church—The World's Greatest Teachers—Jesus of Nazareth—The World's Sacred Books—Our Aims and Hopes.

Cloth 1/- net; postage 2d.

This little book is meant for young people and others who have had hitherto no time or opportunity for a careful study, as distinct from the practice, of religion. It seeks to present Our Fatth in its clearest and most definite form; and, at the same time, to indicate its relation to the general religious life of mankind. It is not, however, wholly or even chiefly concerned with matters of history, still less with dogmatic theology. The writer has tried to lead the mind to earnest self-examination and original thought, and with this view has ventured here and there to use words of direct appeal to the reader; but this is not done in any magisterial spirit, for both writer and reader are scholars in the great School of Life, where he is the happiest who helps another most.'—Preface.

The Very Rev. F. W. FARRAR, D.D., Dean of Canterbury, writes in a recent issue of The Christian World: 'There is a remarkable book by Dr. Van Oort, written in Dutch by a pupil of the great Professor Kuenen and under his supervision called "The Bible for the Young." It has been translated into English, and goes much farther, on many points, than I should myself go; but it is a learned and most interesting book, and it demonstrates that there need he no evaporation of any of the best lessons of Scripture even in the hands of teachers who are advanced votaries of the Higher Criticism.'

- 'It is eminently sensible and popular in form, and the style of the English translation is clear and sinuple. Its information is abreast of the most advanced thought and research; but its rudition is not obtruded, and never introduced in way to form any difficulty to the most simple or unlearned reader.'—Scotsman.
- 'In recent popular theology, one of our most important books is Mr. Philip-Wicksteed's excellent translation of Dr. OORT's "Bible for Young People." How it would have rejoiced Goethe, whose early partiality for Genesis is well known ... to see such delicate sympathy with the beautiful legends of the Israelites,
- to see such delicate sympathy with t'e beautiful legends of the Israelites, coupled with such genuine but lightly-worn learning and uncompromising loyalty to the moral sense of our times.'—Westminster Review.
- 'It treats the Bible much in the same way that Dr. Arnold treated Roman history, giving at the beginning of each chapter the "legend" with which we are all familiar, then the criticism of it, and finally vindicating its title to a place in the instruction of the young by drawing such moral and religious lessons as seem to flow from the result thus obtained. All this is extremely well and attractively done, and young people who take it up are likely enough to be fascinated by it. It brings the discussions of foreign scholarship for the first time in an easy and accessible form before the general English public; and it is one of the many indications continually pressing upon us that these subjects can no longer be safely ignored in the public teaching of the church.—Guardian.

The Rev. PHILIP H. WICKSTEED, M.A., the well-known and acknowledged authority on Old Testament Criticism, and translator of the work, writes, under date of 13th Nov., 1896:—'In the main this work may be taken as representing the best opinion of Scholars, better now than when it was written. Opinion has come up to it.'

PREFACE.

THE Editor of the YEAR BOOK is again indebted to a great many correspondents for information and suggestions; and he will be grateful to the Secretaries of Congregations, Institutions, and Societies, if they will call his attention to any errors or omissions.

The List of Congregations contains 362 places of worship, including mission rooms and hired halls: 283 in England, 39 in Ireland, 8 in Scotland, and 32 in Wales. There are (December, 1901) 19 vacant pulpits.

The List of Ministers contains 366 names, including a few laymen. Of these 292 are in charge of congregations, 14 are employed as editors, secretaries, or college tutors, 44 have retired owing to infirmity or other reasons. There are (December, 1901) 16 ministers open to accept appointments.

The names of 7 ministers which appeared last year are omitted from the present issue—4 owing to death, 3 because they have resigned or withdrawn. Of the ministers in the list 103 were educated at Manchester College, 100 at the Unitarian Home Missionary College; 11 of the latter proceeded afterwards to Manchester College.

The following names appear in the Year Book for the first time:—Alexander R. Andreae, B.A., educated at Manchester College; Ottwell Binns, formerly a Congregational minister; George Vance Crook, formerly a Methodist minister; Clement F. Dear, a Lay-preacher; E. Gwilym Evans, B.A., educated at Manchester College; R. H. Greaves, Unitarian minister at Troy, U.S.A.; James Bellamy Higham, B.A., formerly of the Church of England; Thomas Paxton, a Lay-preacher; J. B. Robinson, a Lay-worker; and H. J. Rossington, B.A., William Lawrence Schroeder, M.A., H. Kelsey White,—all three educated at the Unitarian Home Missionary College.

Liturgies are used by 116 congregations, chiefly the Ten Services in the older or newer form. The Essex Hall Hymnal is used by 116 congregations; Hymns for the Christian Church and Home by 67; and Hymns of Praise and Prayer by 71 congregations. In Ireland nearly all the churches use Hymns for Christian Worship; in Wales, 'Pearls of Praise' is used by the majority of the congregations. A few congregations use the Berwick Hymnal, revised by the Rev. Charles Hargrove, M.A., Leeds.

Connected with the Churches and Missions there are 251 Sunday Schools in England, 27 in Wales, 7 in Scotland, and 36 in Ireland—321 in all.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS. Corrections for the next issue of The Year Book should reach the Editor not later than October 31st, 1902.

LIST OF MINISTERS.

The following list gives the names and addresses of (a) persons who have charge of Unitarian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-subscribing Churches and Mission Stations in Great Britain and Ireland; (b) ministers formerly so settled, not having been merely lay-workers, not connected with any other denomination, and who have not withdrawn from the profession; (c) certificated alumni of our Colleges who seek pulpit duty.

The following contractions are used in the column 'College':—M.N.C. = Manchester New College (altered in 1893 to Manchester College, M.C.O.), Oxford; H.M.C. = Unitarian Home Missionary College (altered from Board in 1889), Munchester; Car. = Presbyterian College, Carmarthen; Ow. C. = Owens College, Manchester; U.C. = University College, London. The others explain themselves.

The names of ministers not in charge of any congregation are printed in italics. Many of these are employed in various ways; others, on account of age or infirmity, or for other reasons, do not desire a settlement.

THE INTERNATIONAL COUNCIL OF UNITARIAN AND OTHER

LIBERAL RELIGIOUS THINKERS AND WORKERS.

Founded in Boston, U.S.A., May 25th, 1900. First General Meeting held in London, May 28th, 1901. Second General Meeting will be held in Holland or Switzerland, September, 1903.

This Council was organised at Boston, in the United States, by Foreign Delegates and others in attendance at the seventy-fifth Anniversary of the American Unitarian Association. A Committee, consisting of the Revs. George Batchelor, George Boros, W. Copeland Bowie, Samuel A. Eliot, James Hocart, and Charles W. Wendte, was appointed to prepare a plan of organization. The following Resolutions were adopted at a meeting held at Channing Hall, Boston, U.S.A., on May 25th, 1900:—

- (1) Name.—That the proposed Association be called 'The International Council of Unitarian and other Liberal Religious Thinkers and Workers.'
- (2) Purpose.—That the object of the Council shall be to open communications with those who, in all lands, are striving to unite pure Religion and perfect Liberty; and to increase fellowship and co-operation among them.
- (3) Methods.—That as this purpose demands neither a fixed constitution nor an elaborate official organization, the foregoing provisions be the only stated Articles of the Association, and that all questions concerning the best methods to be employed in the conduct of the interests committed to the said Council be left to the future to determine, as experience, opportunity, correspondence, and conference shall disclose the possibilities of its work.
- (4) Officers.—That the Officers of the Council shall consist of a President and a Secretary, who, together with an Executive Committee, shall be chosen at each meeting to carry out its objects.

- (5) First Meeting.—That the first General Meeting of the Council be held in London, in May, 1901, and thereafter every two years, and, so far as possible, in different countries in succession.
- (6) President and Secretary.—That the Rev. J. Estlin Carpenter, M.A., of Oxford, be appointed President, and the Rev. Charles W. Wendte, of Boston, U.S.A., to the office of General Secretary.

The Committee of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association extended a hospitable invitation to the Council to hold its meetings in London under their auspices, and a special Committee, with the Rev. James Harwood, B.A., as Chairman, Miss E. M. Lawrence and Mr. Ion Pritchard as Treasurers, and the Rev. W. Copeland Bowie as Secretary, made all the local arrangements. The meetings began on Tuesday, May 28th, 1901, and were continued throughout the week. The Addresses and Papers, with a record of the proceedings, are published in a volume of 354 pages under the title of 'Liberal Religious Thought at the Beginning of the Twentieth Century' (Philip Green, Essex Hall). On Saturday, June 1st, 1901, a business meeting was held at Essex Hall, Essex-street, Strand, London, when various Resolutions were adopted, and the following Executive Committee was appointed:—

Professor George Boros, D.D. (Kolozsvar), Rev. W. Copeland Bowie (London), Rev. J. Estlin Carpenter, M.A. (Oxford), Professor B. D. Eerdmans, D.D. (Leiden), Rev. Samuel Eliot, D.D. (Boston, U.S.A.), Professor Edouard Montet, D.D. (Geneva), Professor Jean Reville, D.D. (Paris), and the Rev. Charles W. Wendte, (Boston, U.S.A.).

To this Committee was entrusted the duty of arranging for the meetings of the Council, and of selecting a President, who should belong to the country where the Council assemble. It was agreed that the next meeting should be held early in September, 1903, in Holland or in Switzerland.

[All communications should be addressed to the Secretary, the Rev. Charles W. Wendte, 25, Beacon Street, Boston, Mass., U.S.A.]

BRITISH AND FOREIGN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION.

History.—The British and Foreign Unitarian Association was constituted in 1825. It arose out of the union of three Societies supported by Unitarians in all parts of the kingdom: (1) The Unitarian Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge and the Practice of Virtue, by the Distribution of Books, founded in 1791; (2) The Unitarian Fund, established in 1806, which may be regarded as the most important; and (3) The Association for Protecting the Civil Rights of Unitarians, formed in 1819.

Management.—The Association is managed by a representative Committee elected annually by the whole body of its members.

Grants of Money.—The Association assists many of the older churches in need of help, it makes grants in aid of new churches, and in the maintenance of missionary work in various places at home and abroad. The whole annual income, derived from collections and subscriptions, is expended in grants of money for missionary objects.

Grants of Pamphlets. -The Committee print and publish, from time to time, a great variety of Pamphlets, illustrative of Unitarian Christianity; and grants are freely made to individual inquirers, congregations, missionary societies, and postal missions. 87,219 pamphlets were distributed in this way during 1899.

Publication of Books. -The Committee also print and publish books of liberal religion and theology. Among recent publications the following may be named: 'Laws of Life after the Mind of Christ,' First and Second Series, cheap edition, by J. Hamilton Thom; 'The Christology of the New Testament, by R. B. Drummond, B.A.; 'A Confession of Heresy and a Plea for Frankness,' by T. J. Hardy, B.A.; 'Liberal Religious Thought at the Beginning of the Twentieth Century,' edited by W. Copeland Bowie; 'Unitarian Affirmations,' by R. Travers Herford, B.A.; 'Denials and Beliefs of Unitarians,' by John Wright, B.A.; 'Life's Upper School,' by Mrs. A. C. Osler; 'A Minister of God,' selections from the special sermons and addresses of John Hamilton Thom, edited with a memoir by V. D. Davis, B.A. They have also issued Hymn and Chant Books for the use of congregations, and they publish the Essex Hall Year Book.

Co-operation with local Associations.—The Committee work in cooperation with the various District and Local Associations in different parts of the country. They have given liberal support in aid of Missionary work in the Manchester District, Northumberland and Durham, the South and West of England, the Midlands, South Wales, London and the South-Eastern counties, and elsewhere.

Acting Hon. Secretary:

'The National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-Subscribing or Kindred Congregations' had its origin in the example set by the Unitarians of the Unitarian and other Christian Churches' in 1865. At a Council Meeting of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, held on January 19th, 1881, it was resolved:—'That the Executive Committee be requested to consider the possibility and desirableness of holding a Unitarian Conference in England, and to ascertain the feeling of the larger Congregations, and report to the next Meeting of the Council.' On June 24th, 1881, at the Meeting of the Council, a Committee was formed to make arrangements for a meeting of Ministers and Laymen in some central district for religious fellowship and conference.

The first Conference was held at Liverpool in 1882; the second at Birmingham in 1885; the third at Leeds in 1888; the fourth at London in 1891; the fifth at Manchester in 1894; the sixth at Sheffield in 1897; and the seventh at Leicester in April, 1900.

A special Meeting of the Conference was held in London in 1897 to consider proposals for extending its influence and enlarging the scope of its work. The following Resolution was adopted:—That the Committee of the Triennial Conference having been constituted on a basis by which it represents the various Congregations and Associations which form the Conference, it is hereby resolved that the Committee be instructed to hold regular meetings to consult and, when considered advisable, to take action in matters affecting the well-being and interests of the congregations and societies which form the Conference, as by directing attention, suggesting plans, organising expressions of opinion, raising funds to carry out the foregoing objects, or summoning, if it deem it needful, a special meeting of the Conference. Further, that the Committee shall present to each Conference a full report of its proceedings and the action it has taken for the approval or otherwise of the Conference.

The Congregations in the list of Churches given in this Year Book may appoint the minister and one delegate to attend the meetings of the Conference. District Unitarian Societies also send delegates. The Conference is intended to be representative of the Churches; the British and Foreign Unitarian Association is governed by a Committee appointed by its individual subscribers.

MINISTERS' CONFERENCES.

Body of English Presbyterian Ministers in and about the Cities of London and Westminster.—At the beginning of the reign of Charles II. there was an organized community of Presbyterian Ministers who possessed and exercised the privilege of presenting Petitions and Addresses to the Sovereign. In 1691 the Bodies of Presbyterian and Independent Ministers joined together as 'United Brethren.' Doctrinal differences, however, led to a dissolution of the Union after a few years. Then the Presbyterians styled themselves and were known as 'The Body (or Board) of Presbyterian Ministers in and about the cities of London and Westminster.' In 1702 on the accession of Queen Anne, the three Denominations, viz: the Presbyterian, Independent, and Anti-paedobaptist, formed a Union (each Body, however retaining its separate existence), which was renewed in the following reign, and in 1727 took the title 'The General Body of Protestant Dissenting Ministers of the Three Denominations residing in and about the cities of London and Westminster.' This united Body had the privilege of addressing the Throne. In 1836 in consequence of doctrinal difficulties the Presbyterians seceded and on the accession of Queen Victoria were permitted to resume their ancient practice, which they have since continued to exercise, of addressing, as a separate Body, the Sovereign in person. The Presbyterian form of government has not been in use among them since the Act of Uniformity. The Meetings of the Body are generally held at Dr. Williams's Library, Gordon-square, London, W.C. Hon. Secs., Revs. James Harwood, B.A. and F. K. Freeston.

SUGGESTED TRUST DEED.

Nearly all Unitarian and Free Christian Churches possess what are known as 'Open Trust Deeds,' The land, buildings, and endowments (if any) are held in Trust for the worship of God, and for the religious, moral, or intellectual improvement of the Congregation for the time being worshipping there, and for its general benevolent objects.

In drafting a New Trust Deed care should be taken to clearly state that if any question should at any time arise as to the purposes for which the said Church or Chapel may lawfully be used, the widest meaning should be attached to the trust aforesaid, so that neither by reference to the actual or supposed opinions of the founders, nor otherwise, shall any restriction be imposed on the liberty of the congregation for the time being to change its opinions with regard to religious doctrines or modes of regulating worship.

The deed should be settled by a solicitor, who will consider questions of consideration, enrolment, etc.

Marriage Laws.

England and Wales.—Marriages may be solemnised in any registered building, or in a district registry office either by certificate or by licence. If by certificate, notice (accompanied with fee of 1s. for entry in 'Marriage Notice Book') must be given by one of the parties, if both live in one district, to the Superintendent-Registrar, on form furnished for purpose, containing solenn declaration of absence of impediment to intended marriage, certifying that one of the parties has dwelt at least seven days in district, and must be signed in presence of Registrar or deputy; but if parties live in different districts, notices must be sent to respective Superintendent-Registrars. Twenty-one clear days after entry of notice the certificate (for which 1s. must be paid) will be granted on application.

The same applies if one party lives in Ireland, only notice must be given on form used in Ireland. If one party lives in Scotland, Scotch certificate of proclamation of banns will be accepted as equal to certificate.

If by licence, though both parties do not dwell in same district, only one need give notice (on a form impressed with a 2s. 6d. stamp), certifying that he or she has resided at least fifteen days in district, though marriage may be held in district of either party. Both parties, however, must be in England at time of notice, though only one clear day is required (unless marriage take place in Ireland with some one there, when seven days are required) between notice and granting of licence. Cost of licence, £2 4s. 6d.

If there be no registered building in the district according to rites or ceremonies desired by parties, by endorsing notice with such declaration marriage may be held in another district.

If usual 'place of worship' at which ceremony is desired, be out of district of either's dwelling, by inserting words:—'Such building being usual place of worship of said——, and situate not more than two miles beyond limits of

district of ____,' certificate will be granted accordingly.

The marriage must take place in registered building specified in certificate, with open doors, between the hours of eight in the morning and three in the afternoon, within three calendar months from day of entry of notice, in presence of Registrar (or his deputy, or, if the Marriage Act of 1898 has been adopted, in the presence of the Authorised person) and two or more credible witnesses besides minister, if any. At some part of ceremony the words must be said:—'I do solemnly declare that I know not of any lawful impediment why I——may not be joined in matrimony to——'; and each must say to other: 'I call upon these persons here present to witness that I—— do take thee—— to be my lawful wedded wife (or husband)'; without which it is not a marriage.

Registrar's fee for attending marriage by certificate, 5s.; by licence, 10s.;

for copy of certificate, 2s. 6d., and stamp 1d.

Ireland.—Marriages according to the form and discipline of the Presbyterian Church may be celebrated—

1. By special licence;

2. By licence; or

3. After publication of banns.

(1.) In the first case 'Both parties must be members of the same Church as the Moderator who grants the Special Licence,'—that is to say the Remonstrant Synod of Ulster, the Presbytery of Antrim, and the mod of Munster, are treated as three separate denominations, and the oderator of each has the privilege of granting special licences to the embers of his own body.

(2.) Ordinary licences can be granted when only one of the parties is a esbyterian. Each Presbytery is authorised to appoint, subject to the proval of the Lord Lieutenant, a sufficient number of Presbyterian inisters to issue licences for marriage in meeting-houses duly certified, in nnection with the Presbytery.

Anyone wishing to obtain a licence must, seven days before the licence all be delivered to him or her, produce to the licensing minister a certificate om the minister of the congregation of which he or she shall be a member do has been a member for at least one calendar month preceding. This ngregation must be in connection with the Presbytery to which the licensing inister belongs.

(3.) When both parties are Presbyterians, marriages may be celebrated ter the banns have been proclaimed for three Sundays in the Presbyterian eeting-houses attended by each of the parties.

The presence of the Registrar is not required at a marriage celebrated in place of worship whether Presbyterian or otherwise.

Scotland.—The ceremony can be performed by the minister of any demination, in any place, at any time, with or without any particular form. he haw has been amended so as to put an end, as far as possible, to what we known as 'irregular' marriages. Legal notice must now be given to be Registrar of the parish or district, as in England, the names of the conceting parties being exhibited for seven days on the notice board outside e office of the Registrar in whose district the parties have resided for at lest fifteen days immediately preceding. At the expiration of the period med a certificate will be granted, and on this the marriage may take place ther in a church or elsewhere. Any person who has resided for at least renty-one days in Scotland may be married by going to the Registrar's fice in which he or she may reside, accompanied by two witnesses who can triffy as to the term of residence, and exchanging written contract with the her party, afterwards proceeding to the County Sheriff's chambers to have a marriage registered.

The Act of 1880 does not entitle any one to be buried in any place in hich he would have no right to be buried if the Act had not passed. When permission to bury a non-parishioner is given, the service may be onducted under the 'Act. The incumbent has no legal right to make his pasent to the burial of a non-parishioner dependent on the service being

Neither does it affect previously existing regulations or authority in regard the position of graves, inscriptions on gravestones, &c. The same fees ill also have to be paid as though the burial were conducted by a clergyman. The Act of 1880 applies only to England and Wales and the Channel lands.

Burial Grounds Act, 1900.—This Act, which received the royal assent aly 10th, 1900, and comes into operation January 1st, 1901, modifies the ct of 1880 by rendering the forty-eight hours notice no longer necessary the case of the consecrated parts of parochial cemeteries. The Act does ot deal with churchyards. In future, burial boards 'may, if they think fit,' oply to have a portion of the cemetery consecrated; formerly they were empelled to have a portion consecrated. Burial boards are no longer empelled to erect two cemetery chapels, one for Anglicans and one for Noninformists. They may erect any chapel 'they may consider necessary'; it any chapel so erected 'shall not be consecrated, or reserved for the clusive use of any denomination.' The payment of fees to an incumbent a parish will no longer be required 'except for services rendered by him.' future, when a Nonconformist minister officiates in the consecrated part a parochial cemetery, he, and not the clergyman, will receive the fee. hese provisions apply to cemeteries opened after the passing of the Act. the case of cemeteries already existing the old fees will continue to be xacted for fifteen years, or on the vacating of the incumbency, whichever is e longer period.

Charitable Trusts, Investments, etc.

Charitable Trusts.—The Acts relating to Charitable Trusts give the Charity Commissioners very extensive jurisdiction over all charitable trusts (except certain exempted charities), and empower the Commissioners to inquire into the management of charities, to oblige their trustees to render accounts, to advise such trustees on the administration of the trusts, to authorise or direct legal proceedings to be taken, to authorise the granting of leases and making of improvements, and raising of money by mortgage, to authorise trustees to remove schoolmasters and other officers, to authorise the sale, exchange, or partitions of lands, to remove and appoint trustees, and to make new schemes for the administration of charities. Among the charitie exempted from the operations of these Acts are any buildings registered a places of meeting for religious worship with the Registrar-General of Births Deaths, and Marriages, and bona fide used as places of meeting for religious worship. Exempted charities can, by application under certain sections of one of the Acts, have the benefits of the Acts extended to them.

Dissenters' Chapels Act.—It is under this Act (7 & 8 Vict., c. 45), passed 19th July, 1844, that many of the old Presbyterian Chapels are secured to the Unitarians. The Act provides in substance that where there is n express statement in the deed of foundation as to the particular doctrine for which a chapel was to be employed, twenty-five years' usage shall be conclusive.

Dissenters in Established Church Pulpits.—The Act by which it i considered that the Clergy are restrained from inviting Dissenters to occup; their pulpits is the Act of Uniformity of 1662 (13 & 14 Car. II., c. 14). By this Act no one may act or preach as a lecturer (in which capacity it is conceived a Dissenter or layman would appear, if so invited to preach) without a licence from the Bishop, and it has been decided that the discretion of th Bishop to grant or withhold his licence cannot be questioned. Any lecture who acts in contravention of this enactment "shall suffer three months' imprisonment without bail or mainprize." No penalty, however, appears to bincurred by a parson inviting or permitting an unlicensed lecturer to use his pulpit; though a Bishop who grants a licence to anyone who has not firs subscribed to the Three Articles concerning "the King's supremacy, the Book of Common Prayer, and the 39 Articles," will have to suffer the seriou inconvenience of being suspended from giving licences to preach for the space of twelve months.

Land, Gifts and Sales of.—The law relating to gifts and sales of lan and other property for charitable uses (amongst which are included the erection of chapels, schools, &c.), has been recently consolidated by the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict., cap. 42) and the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1891 (54 & 55 Vict., c. 73), but is stull very complicated No attempt should be made to give effect to sales of more than two acress cland, or to gifts for such purposes without competent legal advice. reditaments, and personal property directed to be laid out in them, may assured to charity, either for value or as a gift, and either by deed or will, ithout restriction of any kind.

Oaths Act, 1888.—The Act to amend the Law as to Oaths, passed on the th December, 1888, enacts that every person upon objecting to being sworn, distating, as the ground of such objection, either that he has no religious lief, or that the taking of an oath is contrary to his religious belief, all be permitted to make his solemn affirmation instead of taking an th, in all places and for all purposes where an oath is or shall be required a law, which affirmation shall be of the same force and effect as if he had ken the oath. Every such affirmation shall be as follows:—"I, A. B., do lemnly, sincerely, and truly declare and affirm," and then proceed with the ords of the oath prescribed by law, omitting any words of imprecation or lling to witness. If any person to whom an oath is administered desires swear with uplifted hand in the form and manner in which an oath is mally administered in Scotland, he shall be permitted to do so, and the testion.

Rates, Exemption from.—By 3 & 4 Will. IV., cap. 30, all churches, tapels, meeting-houses, or premises exclusively appropriated to public regions worship, and which are duly certified for such purpose, are exempted on the payment of Poor and Church rates. But such parts of the premises are not so exclusively appropriated, and from which any rent, profit, or lyantage is received, are liable to be rated. By the Public Health Act 1875 to incumbent or minister of any building already exempt by law from poor tess shall not be liable to rates for paving, sewering, or lighting. The provisions this Act do not apply to the Metropolis. By 32 & 33 Vict., cap. 40, authories having power to levy any rate may exempt any building used exclusively a Sunday-school or Ragged-school. The exemption is in the option of the thorities.

Registers, Dissenting, of Births, Baptisms, Marriages, Deaths, and urials.—These registers and records, which were collected, examined and proved by a Royal Commission, are now deposited in the custody of the egistrar-General, at the Non-Parochial Register Office, Somerset House, ondon, which, for the purposes of the Act of 3 & 4 Vict., c. 92, is deemed a anch or part of the General Register Office. and commissioners holding land for public purposes, are empowered, within certain limitations, to grant sites for places of religious worship, residences for ministers, and burial grounds.

Trustees' Incorporation Act.—35 & 36 Vict., c. 24.—This Act, entitled "An Act to facilitate the Incorporation of Trustees of Charities for Religious, Educational, Literary, Scientific, and Public Charitable Purposes, and the Enrolment of certain Charitable Trust-Deeds," was passed 27th June, 1872. The object of the Act is to facilitate the incorporation of the charities indicated in the title, and to diminish the expense of enrolment under an Act passed in the thirtieth year of the reign of Her present Majesty. Owing to the option of granting a certificate being by the Act vested in the Charity Commissioners for England and Wales, and to the latter having held that such certificate should be refused in cases where the property might be vested in the official trustee of the Commissioners under the Charity Commission Acts, the Incorporation Act has become practically useless.

Addis, W. E., M.A.

CHRISTIANITY AND THE ROMAN EMPIRE. Cloth 2/6 net.

The Review of Reviews says:—'The daily crop of small manuals seldom inspires any great respect, but Mr. Addis's manual is an exceptionally good little work. He deals with many points, and puts many things, people and events in their right places, all within a few pages; and yet the result is a real book, not a mass of notes. He writes on the condition of the Roman Empire, the diffusion of Christianity, the legal position of Christians, the Apologists, the Gnostics, and internal changes in the Christian body. There is considerable cleverness in the choice and arrangement of the materials, and Mr. Addis is also scrupulously fair-minded.'

Addresses to Children. For use in Home and School. Price 8d. net. Postage 2d.

This little book consists of Twenty-five Addresses which have appeared in the 'Children's Column' of The Inquirer, contributed by Revs. John Byles, V. D. Davis, J. J. Wright, and E. P. Barrow; Miss Frances E. Cooke, Miss Gertrude Martineau, Mrs. Farrington, and others.

THE METHOD OF CREATION. A comparison of the Book of Nature with the Book of Genesis. Cloth 1/- net.

The very free criticism of the book of Genesis here given is likely to offend some old-fashioned teachers, but it will be owing to their having fallen nebind the age. The views inculcated are those of the best scientific writers, and we rejoice that so sensibly written a little manual is accessible. It should be in large demand, for it supplies a readable and easily-grasped explanation of the main difficulties that occur to the mind in reading the Mosaic account of the Creation.'-Literary World.

TWELVE HYMNS AND THEIR WRITERS. Biographical

Sketches and Lesson Notes. Cloth, 1/- net, postage 3d. lessons.—From Preface.

The British Friend says:—'The sketches of character are delightful from the delicacy and taste with which the author delineates the trend of thought in each of his subjects. The hymns are brief but well chosen, and well worth remembering for the thoughts they express.'

The Christian Life says:—'The idea is excellent. . . The hymns are not only suitable for children, but will be useful companions in their learner's mind throughout life.'

OUR FAITH: STUDIES IN RELIGION. 1/- net; postage 2d. This little book is meant for young people and others who have had hitherto no time or opportunity for a careful study, as distinct from the practice, of religion. It seeks to present OUR FAITH in its clearest and most definite form; and, at the same time, to indicate its relation to the general religious life of mankind. It is not, however, wholly or even chiefly concerned with matters of history, still less with dogmatic theology. The writer has tried to lead the mind to earnest self-examination and original thought, and with this view has ventured here and there to use words of direct appeal to the reader; but this is not done in any magisterial spirit, for both writer and reader are scholars in the great School of Life, where he is the happiest who helps another most."—Preface. The Very Rev. F. W. FARRAR, D.D., Dean of Canterbury, writes in The Christian World: 'There is a remarkable book by Dr. Van Oort, written buth by a pupil of the great Professor Kuenen and under his supervision called "The Bible for the Young." It has been translated into English, and goes much farther, on many points, than I should myself go; but it is a learned and most interesting book, and it demonstrates that there need be no evaporation of any of the best lessons of Scripture even in the hands of teachers who are advanced votaries of the Higher Criticism.'

'It is eminently sensible and popular in form, and the style of the English translation is clear and simple. Its information is abreast of the most advanced thought and research; but its erudition is not obtruded, and never introduced in a way to form any difficulty to the most simple or unlearned reader.'—Scotsman.

'In recent popular theology, one of our most important books is Mr. Philip Wicksteed's excellent translation of Dr. OORT'S "Bible for Young People." How it would have rejoiced Goethe, whose early partiality for Genesis is well known . . . to see such delicate sympathy with the beautiful legends of the Israelites, coupled with such genuine but lightly-worn learning, and uncompromising loyalty to the moral sense of our times. "—Westminster Review."

'It treats the Bible much in the same way that Dr. Arnold treated Roman history, giving at the beginning of each chapter the "legend" with which we are all familiar, then the criticism of it, and finally vindicating its title to a place in the instruction of the young by drawing such moral and religious lessons as seem to flow from the result thus obtained. All this is extremely well and attractively done, and young people who take it up are likely enough to be fascinated by it. It brings the discussions of foreign scholarship for the first time in an easy and accessible form before the general English public; and it is one of the many indications continually pressing upon us that these subjects can no longer be safely ignored in the public teaching of the church. "Guardian.

THE

FOR

1903

EDITED BY

W. COPELAND BOWLE

Secretary of the British & Foreign Unitarian Association

LONDON

THE BRITISH AND FOREIGN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION ESSEX HALL, ESSEX STREET, STRAND, W.C.

PREFACE.

THE Editor of the YEAR BOOK is indebted to many correspondents for information and suggestions; he will be grateful to the Secretaries of Congregations, Institutions, and Societies, if they will call his attention to any errors or omissions.

The List of Congregations contains 364 places of worship, including mission rooms and hired halls: 284 in England, 39 in Ireland, 8 in Scotland, and 33 in Wales. There are (December, 1902) 14 vacant pulpits.

The List of Ministers contains 371 names, including a few laymen. Of these 297 are in charge of congregations, 13 are employed as college tutors, editors, or secretaries, 39 have retired owing to infirmity or other reasons. There are (December, 1902), 22 ministers open to accept appointments.

The names of 12 ministers which appeared last year are omitted from the present issue—9 owing to death, 3 because they have resigned or withdrawn. Of the ministers in the list 106 were educated at Manchester College, 103 at the Unitarian Home Missionary College; 12 of the latter proceeded afterwards to Manchester College.

The following names appear in the YEAR BOOK for the first time:-J. Worsley Austin, M.A., educated at Manchester College, for a time Unitarian minister at Dedham, U.S.A.: Charles Lionel Briggs, M.A., educated at Manchester College; Gordon Cooper, B.A., educated at Manchester College; George Critchley, B.A., formerly a Congregational minister; Henry Cross, educated at Dunoon Training College; George Argyll Ferguson, educated at Manchester College; C. A. Ginever, a Lay-worker; A. Irvine Innes, formerly a Journalist: Evan Oliver Jenkins, educated at the Unitarian Home Missionary College; J. P. Kane, educated at Presbyterian College, Carmarthen; Robert McGee, formerly a Congregational minister; G. Leonard Phelps, educated at Unitarian Home Missionary College; Philip E. Richards, B.A., student for two years at Manchester College; H. Fisher Short, educated at Unitarian Home Missionary College; A. Hermann Thomas, B.A., educated at Manchester College; Eustace Thompson, educated at Unitarian Home Missionary College; F. Heming Vaughan, B.A., educated at Unitarian Home Missionary and Manchester Colleges. John Reid, M.A., takes the place of the former minister at Adelaide, South Australia.

Liturgies are used by 114 congregations, chiefly the Ten Services in the older or newer form. The Essex Hall Hymnal, in its older or Revised edition, is used by 138 congregations; Hymns for the Christian Church and Home by 55; and Hymns of Praise and Prayer by 66. In Ireland nearly all the churches use Hymns for Christian Worship; in Wales, 'Pearls of Praise' is used by the majority of the congregations. A few congregations use the Berwick Hymnal, revised by the Rev. Charles Hargrove, M.A.

Connected with the Churches and Missions there are 252 Sunday Schools in England, 27 in Wales, 7 in Scotland, and 35 in Ireland—321 in all.

LIST OF MINISTERS WITH THEIR ADDRESSES

NOTE.

The list contains the names and addresses of (a) persons who have charge of Unitarian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-subscribing Churches and Mission Stations in Great Britain and Ireland; (b) ministers formerly so settled, not having been merely lay-workers, not connected with any other denomination, and who have not withdrawn from the profession; (c) alumni of our Colleges who seek pulpit duty.

The following contractions are used in the column 'College':—M.N.C. = Manchester New College (abtered in 1893 to Manchester College, M.C.O.), Oxford; H.M.C. = Unitarian Home Missionary College (altered from Board in 1889), Manchester; Car. = Presbyterian College, Carmarthen; Ow. C. = Owens College, Manchester; U.C. = University College, London. The others explain themselves.

The names of ministers not in charge of any congregation are printed in italics. Several of these are employed in various ways; others, on account of age or infirmity, or other reasons, do not desire a settlement.

INTERNATIONAL COUNCIL OF UNITARIAN & OTHER LIBERAL RELIGIOUS THINKERS&WORKERS

This Council was organised at Boston, in the United States, by Foreign Delegates and others in attendance at the seventy-fifth Anniversary of the American Unitarian Association. A Committee, consisting of the Revs. George Batchelor, George Boros, W. Copeland Bowie, Samuel A. Eliot, James Hocart, and Charles W. Wendte, was appointed to prepare a plan of organization. The following Resolutions were adopted at a meeting held at Channing Hall, Boston, U.S.A., on May 25th, 1900:—

(1) Name.—That the proposed Association be called 'The International Council of Unitarian and other Liberal Religious Thinkers and Workers.'

(2) Purpose.—That the object of the Council shall be to open communications with those who, in all lands, are striving to unite pure Religion and perfect Liberty; and to increase fellowship and co-operation among them.

(3) Methods. That as this purpose demands neither a fixed constitution nor an elaborate official organization, the foregoing provisions be the only stated Articles of the Association, and that all questions concerning the best methods to be employed in the conduct of the interests committed to the said Council be left to the future to determine, as experience, opportunity, correspondence, and conference shall disclose the possibilities of its work.

(4) Officers.—That the Officers of the Council shall consist of a President and a Secretary, who, together with an Executive Committee, shall be chosen at each meeting to carry out its objects.

(5) First Meeting. That the first General Meeting of the Council be held in London, in May, 1901, and thereafter every two years, and, so far as possible, in different countries in succession.

(6) President and Secretary. -That the Rev. J. Estlin Carpenter, M.A., of Oxford, be appointed President, and the Rev. Charles W. Wendte, of Boston, U.S.A., to the office of General Secretary.

The Committee of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association extended a hospitable invitation to the Council to hold its meetings in London under their auspices. A special Committee, with the Rev. James Harwood, B.A., as Chairman, Miss E. M. Lawrence and Mr. Ion Pritchard as Treasurers, and the Rev. W. Copeland Bowie as Secretary, made all the local arrangements. The meetings began on Tuesday, May 28th, 1901, and were continued throughout the week.

The Addresses and Papers, with a record of the proceedings, are published in a volume of 354 pages under the title of 'Liberal Religious Thought at the Beginning of the Twentieth Century' On Saturday, June 1st, 1901, a business meeting was held at Essex Hall, Essex-street, Strand, London, when various Resolutions were adopted, and the following Executive Committee was appointed:

Professor George Boros, D.D. (Kolozsvar), Rev. W. Copeland Bowie (London), Rev. J. Estlin Carpenter, M.A. (Oxford), Professor B. D. Eerdmans, D.D. (Leiden), Rev. Samuel Eliot, D.D. (Boston, U.S.A.), Professor Edouard Montet, D.D. (Geneva), Professor Jean Reville, D.D. (Paris), and the Rev. Charles W. Wendte, (Boston, U.S.A.).

To this Committee was entrusted the duty of arranging for the meetings of the Council, and of selecting a President, who should belong to the country where the Council assemble.

It is gratifying to know that several of the Addresses and Papers at the London meetings have been translated into foreign languages; and an edition of the greater part of the volume has also appeared in Hungarian, under the editorship of Bishop Ferencz, of Koloszvar.

The next meetings of the International Council will be held at Amsterdam, Holland, beginning on Tuesday, September 1st, 1903, and ending on Friday, September 4th. The President will be Dr. Oort, of Leiden, and the Hon. Sec., Professor Eerdmans. The Rev. P. H. Hugenholtz, Jr., of Amsterdam, will have charge of the local arrangements. The President of the American Unitarian Association, the Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, D.D., accompanied by the Rev. J. H. Crooker, D.D., and the Rev. C. W. Wendte will attend. The British and Foreign Unitarian Association will be represented by the President, the Rev. R. A. Armstrong, B.A., the Rev. J. Estlin Carpenter, M.A., the Rev. James Harwood, B.A., the Rev. W. Copeland Bowie, and Mr. Ion Pritchard, of Essex Hall, London, who will organise a party from England to attend the meetings.

Hungary.—Ever since the year 1568 there has existed an organised Unitarian Church in Hungary. In the sixteenth century it consisted of more than four hundred congregations in Transylvania, and also a considerable number in Hungary proper. The number was greatly reduced by protracted and bitter persecution, which lasted about two hundred years. The present number of Unitarian congregations with ministers is over one hundred. The churches are organised under a Bishop and two Curators, and are governed by a representative Consistory at Kolozsvar.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION.

History.—The British and Foreign Unitarian Association was constituted in 1825. It arose out of the union of three Societies supported by Unitarians in all parts of the kingdom: (1) The Unitarian Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge and the Practice of Virtue, by the Distribution of Books, founded in 1791; (2) The Unitarian Fund, established in 1806, which may be regarded as the most important; and (3) The Association for Protecting the Civil Rights of Unitarians, formed in 1819.

Management.—The Association is managed by a representative Committee elected annually by the whole body of its members.

Grants of Money.—The Association assists many of the older churches in need of help, it makes grants in aid of new churches, and in the maintenance of missionary work in various places at home and abroad. The whole annual income, derived from collections and subscriptions, is expended in grants of money for missionary objects.

Grants of Pamphlets.—The Committee print and publish, from time to time, a great variety of Pamphlets, illustrative of Unitarian Christianity; and grants are freely made to individual inquirers, congregations, missionary societies, and postal missions. 114,792 pamphlets were distributed in this way during 1901.

Publication of Books.—The Committee also print and publish books of liberal religion and theology. Among recent publications the following may be named: 'Some Thoughts on Christology,' the Essex Hall Lecture for 1902, by Dr. James Drummond, M.,: 'The New World and the New Thought,' by J. T. Bixby, Ph.D.; 'Ralph Waldo Emerson, Passages from his Writings,' with a Brief Sketch of his Life and a Reading-Guide, by W. C. Gannett. They have also issued a Revised Edition of the Essex Hall Hymnal and Chant Books for the use of congregations, and they publish the Essex Hall Year Book. During the year large numbers of Unitarian Pamphlets were printed and published.

Co-operation with local Associations.—The Committee work in co-operation with the various District and Local Associations in different parts of the country. They have given liberal support in aid of Missionary work in the Manchester District, Northumberland and Durham, the South and West of England, the Midlands, South Wales, London and the South-Eastern counties, and elsewhere.

Foreign Work.—Grants have been given to assist the Unitarian cause in Australia, Belgium, Denmark, Hungary, New Zealand, and other places. From July 1st, 1896, a Special Fund for Mission Work in India was opened, to which all expenditure for India is now charged.

Civil Rights of Unitarians.—The Association guards the civil and religious rights and privileges of Unitarians; for instance, when attempts were made recently to teach Trinitarian and other sectarian doctrines in rate-supported schools, the Committee took an active part in counteracting this retrograde movement.

THE NATIONAL TRIENNIAL CONFERENCE.

'The National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-Subscribing or Kindred Congregations' had its origin in the example set by the Unitarians of the United States of America, who had organized a 'National Conference of Unitarian and other Christian Churches' in 1865. At a Council Meeting of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, held on January 19th, 1881, it was resolved:—'That the Executive Committee be requested to consider the possibility and desirableness of holding a Unitarian Conference in England, and to ascertain the feeling of the larger Congregations, and report to the next Meeting of the Council.' On June 24th, 1881, at the Meeting of the Council, a Committee was formed to make arrangements for a meeting of Ministers and Laymen in some central district for religious fellowship and conference.

The first Conference was held at Liverpool in 1882; the second at Birmingham in 1885; the third at Leeds in 1888; the fourth at Londor in 1891; the fifth at Manchester in 1894; the sixth at Sheffield in 1897; and the seventh at Leicester in April, 1900. The eighth Conference will be held at Liverpool, April 21st to 24th, 1903.

A special Meeting of the Conference was held in London in 1897 a which the following Resolution was adopted:—'That the Committee of the Triennial Conference having been constituted on a basis by which is represents the various Congregations and Associations which form the Conference, it is hereby resolved that the Committee be instructed to hold regular meetings to consult and, when considered advisable, to take action in matters affecting the well-being and interests of the congregations and societies which form the Conference, as by directing attention, suggesting plans, organising expressions of opinion, raising funds to carry out the foregoing objects, or summoning, if it deem it needful, a special meeting of the Conference. Further, that the Committee shall present to each Conference a full report of its proceedings and the action it has taken for the approve or otherwise of the Conference.'

MINISTERS' CONFERENCES.

Body of English Presbyterian Ministers in and about the Cities of London and Westminster .- At the beginning of the reign of Charles II. there was an organized community of Presbyterian Ministers who enjoyed the privilege of presenting Petitions and Addresses to the Sovereign. In 1691 the Bodies of Presbyterian and Independent Ministers joined together as 'United Brethren.' Doctrinal differences however, led to a dissolution of the Union after a few years. Then the Presbyterians styled themselves and were known as 'The Body (or Board) o Presbyterian Ministers in and about the cities of London and Westminster. In 1702 on the accession of Queen Anne, the three Denominations, viz: the Presbyterian, Independent, and Anti-paedobaptist, formed a Union (each Body, however retaining its separate existence), which was renewed in the following reign, and in 1727 took the title 'The General Body of Protestan Dissenting Ministers of the Three Denominations residing in and about th cities of London and Westminster.' This united Body had the privilege of addressing the Throne. In 1836 in consequence of doctrinal differences th Presbyterians seceded and on the accession of Queen Victoria were permitted to resume their ancient practice, which they have since continued to exercise of addressing, as a separate Body, the Sovereign in person. The Presbyterian form of government has not been in use among them since the Act of Uniformity. The Meetings of the Body are generally held at Dr. Williams's Library, Gordon-square, London, W.C. Hon. Secs., Revs. James Harwood, B.A. and F. K. Freeston.

Meets at Exeter, on the third Wednesday in June, in the Vestry of George's Meeting. It is not an executive or missionary body. It possesses an endowment and makes grants to its poorer ministers. One of its ancient functions was to ordain ministers. It now includes the ministers of Unitarian Chapels in Devonshire. Clerk, Rev. J. Barron, Tavistock.

In addition to the above, various Conferences and Meetings of Ministers are held in Lancashire and other parts of the country, but they are of a personal or private nature.

AMERICAN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION.

THE American Unitarian Association was formally organised on May 25, 1825. Its object is 'to diffuse the knowledge and promote the interests of pure Christianity,' and all Unitarian churches are invited to unite and cooperate with it for that purpose. Any church or missionary organisation which has made two successive annual contributions is entitled to representation by its minister and two other delegates. The headquarters of the Association are at 25. Beacon Street, Boston, Mass. President, Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, D.D.; Secretary, Rev. Charles E. St. John; Treasurer, Mr. Francis H. Lincoln; Publication Agent, Mr. C. L. Stebbins. There are also Unitarian Book Rooms at Chicago, 175, Dearborn Street; New York. 104, East 20th Street; Philadelphia, 102, South 12th Street; San Francisco, 374, Sutter Street. The National Conference of Unitarian and other Christian Churches owes its organisation to a special meeting of the American Unitarian Association, held December 7, 1864. It is simply a 'Conference.' It 'adopts the existing organisations of the Unitarian body as the instruments of its activity, and confines itself to recommending to them such undertakings and methods as it judges to be in the heart of its constituency.' The Unitarian Association has for seventy-seven years been the executive arm of the Unitarian body, and the working missionary organisation of the Unitarian churches in America.' The Year Book for 1902 gives a list of 460 Unitarian churches and 548 ministers.

SUGGESTED TRUST DEED.

Nearly all Unitarian and Free Christian Churches possess what are known as 'Open Trust Deeds.' The land, buildings, and endowments (if any) are held in Trust for the worship of God, and for the religious, moral, or intellectual improvement of the Congregation for the time being worshipping there, and for it general benevolent objects.

In drafting a New Trust Deed care should be taken to clearly state that if any question should at any time arise as to the purposes for which the said Church or Chapel may lawfully be used, the widest meaning should be attached to the trust aforesaid, so that neither by reference to the actual or supposed opinion of the founders, nor otherwise, shall any restriction be imposed on the liberty of the congregation for the time being to change its opinions with regard to religious doctrines or modes of regulating worship.

The deed should be settled by a solicitor, who will consider questions of con sideration, enrolment, etc.

TRUSTEES, APPOINTMENT OF NEW.

Whenever the instrument creating the Trust specifies the manner in which and the person by whom new trustees are to be appointed the method thus prescribed, and no other, should be adopted. If no method of appointment is prescribed in the trust-deed, or if the prescribed method has lapsed by reason of the death or absence of the appointor, then in the case of chapels, schools, manses, and burial grounds (but not otherwise) the Trustees' Appointment Act, 1850 (13 and 14 Vict. c. 28), (otherwise known as Sir Morton Peto's Act), and the Acts extending this (32 and 3: Vict. c. 26, and 53 and 54 Vict. c. 19), afford a simple and efficacious model of appointing new trustees by a resolution passed at a meeting of the congregation duly convened and held and a memorandum in the form given in the Schedule to that Act signed and sealed by the Chairman at the meeting and in the presence of two witnesses. If this memorandun be duly filled up and executed in accordance with the Act, it operates both as an appointment and a conveyance, the trust-property vesting at once in the old and new trustees jointly without any formal deed A ten shilling stamp is sufficient. In cases which are not within these Acts, recourse must be had to the Conveyancing Act, 1881 (extended by the Trustees' Appointment Act, 1890), which provides that where no method of appointment is prescribed by the instrument creating the trust or where the person in whom that instrument vests the power of appointment is unable or unwilling to act, the surviving or continuing trustees and trustee, or the personal representative of the last surviving or continuing trustee, may by writing appoint. If the appointment be by deed it may contain a declaration under section 34 of the Conveyancing Act which will operate to vest the property in the Trustees without any other conveyance. A 20s. stamp is necessary. If none of these modes of appointment are feasible, resort should be had to the powers of the Charity Commissioners, and in the last instance to the Chancery Division of the High Court, though this latter course should not be adopted without a certificate of its necessity from the Commissioners. [The Office of the Charity Commissioners for England and Wales is at Gwydyr House, Whitehall, London, S.W.] The form of appointment under Peto's Act is:—

There is no charge for such registration, unless the Registrar attends, by a written request, at the house of the parents, when he becomes entitled to a fee of 1s. In default of the parents, the occupier of the house in which the child was born, and other persons, are held responsible for giving information to the Registrar. After the lapse of three months from the date of birth, the registration can only be effected by paying fees of

2s. 6d. each to the Registrar and Superintendent-Registrar.

Deaths must be registered within five days, but registration may be delayed for fourteen days provided written information of the death, together with a medical certificate of its cause, be forwarded to the Registrar within five days. The nearest relative present at the death or during the last illness is the responsible person, or should there be no relative present, then the occupier of the house, or the person who causes the body to be buried. Penalty for default, 40s. The doctor's certificate must be produced to the Registrar at the time of registration, and the Registrar's certificate to the officiating Minister at the interment. No fee is payable if the informants attend at the Registrar's office, but he becomes entitled to a fee of 1s. if he attends by request at their houses.

Registration of Chapels.

Ordinary Registration.—All dissenting places of worship should be registered. Registration is effected by giving a certificate in writing that the chapel is used for worship to the Superintendent-Registrar of the District on a form which he will supply on application. The fee on registration is 2s. 6d., and a certified copy of the Registrar-General's certificate of the Registration can be obtained for a further payment of 2s. 6d. The Registers can at any time be inspected at the Superintendent-Registrar's office on payment of a fee of 1s. Registered places of worship are exempt from the provisions of the Charitable Trusts Acts. When a place of worship is rebuilt, either on the same or another site, the old certificate of registration must be cancelled and the place re-registered.

Registration of Chapels for Marriages.—A place of worship must, before marriages can legally be celebrated therein, in addition to being registered as above mentioned, be separately registered for the performance of marriages. Before registering a place for marriages, the Superintendent-Registrar of the district must be satisfied by certificate that the building has been used for worship for one year previous to the application. A fee of £3 is payable, and the Registration is advertised in the London Gazette and in a local newspaper. When a chapel ceases to be used for worship or is rebuilt, the certificate is cancelled, and in that case it requires to be renewed if worship is resumed. When a congregation has removed from one chapel to another, and the old building has ceased to be used as a place of public worship, the certificate of the old chapel may be cancelled, and the new building registered for the solemnisation of marriages, without waiting for a year to elapse. All necessary forms and information will be supplied by the Superintendent-Registra of the District.

Marriage Laws.

England and Wales.—Marriages may be solemnised in any registere building, or in a district registry office either by certificate or by licence If by certificate, notice (accompanied with fee of 1s. for entry in 'Marriag Notice Book') must be given by one of the parties, if both live in one district to the Superintendent-Registrar, on form furnished for purpose, containing solemn declaration of absence of impediment to intended marriage, certifying that one of the parties has dwelt at least seven days in district, and must be signed in presence of Registrar or deputy; but if parties live in different districts, notices must be sent to respective Superintendent-Registrar. Twenty-one clear days after entry of notice the certificate (for which 1s. must be paid) will be granted on application.

The same applies if one party lives in Ireland, only notice must be give on form used in Ireland. If one party lives in Scotland, Scotch certificate of proclamation of banns will be accepted as equal to certificate.

If by licence, though both parties do not dwell in same district, only or need give notice (on a form impressed with a 2s. 6d. stamp), certifying that he or she has resided at least fifteen days in district, though marriage may held in district of either party. Both parties, however, must be in Englan at time of notice, though only one clear day is required (unless marriage talplace in Ireland with some one there, when seven days are required) between notice and granting of licence. Cost of licence, £2 4s. 6d.

If there be no registered building in the district according to rites ceremonies desired by parties, by endorsing notice with such declaration marriage may be held in another district.

If usual 'place of worship' at which ceremony is desired, be out of district of either's dwelling, by inserting words:—'Such building being usual place of worship of said——, and situate not more than two miles beyond limits.

district of ____,' certificate will be granted accordingly.

The marriage must take place in registered building specified in certificat with open doors, between the hours of eight in the morning and three in the afternoon, within three calendar months from day of entry of notice, if presence of Registrar (or his deputy, or, if the Marriage Act of 1898 has been adopted, in the presence of the Authorised person) and two or more credib witnesses besides minister, if any. At some part of ceremony the words must be said:—'I do solemnly declare that I know not of any lawful impediment why I—— may not be joined in matrimony to——'; and each must say tother: 'I call upon these persons here present to witness that I—— do tall thee—— to be my lawful wedded wife (or husband)'; without which it not a marriage.

Registrar's fee for attending marriage by certificate, 5s.; by licence, 10s for copy of certificate, 2s. 6d., and stamp 1d.

Ireland.—Marriages according to the form and discipline of the Presbyterian Church may be celebrated.—

1. By special licence;

2. By licence; or

3. After publication of banns.

(1.) In the first case 'Both parties must be members of the sam Church as the Moderator who grants the Special Licence,'—that is to sa the Remonstrant Synod of Ulster, the Presbytery of Antrim, and the Synod of Munster, are treated as three separate denominations, and the Moderator of each has the privilege of granting special licences to the nembers of his own body.

(2.) Ordinary licences can be granted when only one of the parties is a Presbyterian. Each Presbytery is authorised to appoint, subject to the approval of the Lord Lieutenant, a sufficient number of Presbyterian ministers to issue licences for marriage in meeting-houses duly certified, in connection with the Presbytery.

Anyone wishing to obtain a licence must, seven days before the licence shall be delivered to him or her, produce to the licensing minister a certificate from the minister of the congregation of which he or she shall be a member and has been a member for at least one calendar month preceding. This congregation must be in connection with the Presbytery to which the licensing minister belongs.

(3.) When both parties are Presbyterians, marriages may be celebrated after the banns have been proclaimed for three Sundays in the Presbyterian neeting-houses attended by each of the parties.

The presence of the Registrar is not required at a marriage celebrated in a place of worship whether Presbyterian or otherwise.

Scotland.—The ceremony can be performed by the minister of any denomination, in any place, at any time, with or without any particular form. The law has been amended so as to put an end, as far as possible, to what were known as 'irregular' marriages. Legal notice must now be given to the Registrar of the parish or district, as in England, the names of the contracting parties being exhibited for seven days on the notice board outside the office of the Registrar in whose district the parties have resided for at least fifteen days immediately preceding. At the expiration of the period named a certificate will be granted, and on this the marriage may take place either in a church or elsewhere. Any person who has resided for at least swenty-one days in Scotland may be married by going to the Registrar's office in which he or she may reside, accompanied by two witnesses who can be servity as to the term of residence, and exchanging written contract with the other party, afterwards proceeding to the County Sheriff's chambers to have the marriage registered.

Burial Laws.

By the common law of England every parishioner is entitled to be buried in the churchyard of his parish, and for this purpose every person is a parishioner of the parish in which he dies. Prior to the Burial Act of 1880, the burial service of the Church of England was the only one which might be read in churchyards or other consecrated ground.

The notice of an intention to bury, in either churchyards or the conseorated parts of parochial cemeteries, should be given with as little delay as possible, and must not be later than forty-eight hours before the time proposed for the burial. The notice may be given by any relative, friend, or legal representative having charge of, or being responsible for, the burial, He may be the minister who will conduct the service, or the undertaker, if duly authorised.

The Notice must be in writing; must be endorsed on the outside 'Notice of Burial'; must be signed with the name and address of the person giving it, and be in the form, or to the effect, following:-

friend, or legal representative, as the case may be, describing the relative.

[N.B.—While it is desirable to keep to this form, the person receiving it will not be at liberty to object to its sufficiency because the exact words are not used; the Act only requiring that the notice shall be in the form, 'or to the effect,' of the above.]

In the case of a churchyard, the notice is to be left at the house of the clergyman, or, in his absence, of the clergyman in charge of the parish, or of any person appointed to receive such notices.

In the case of a parochial cemetery, if there is a chaplain for the consecrated ground, the notice is to be addressed to him, but is to be left at the office of the Clerk of the Burial Board.

In the case of a pauper, notice may be given to the incumbent, or the chaplain, and also to the master of the workhouse, or to the clerk to the Guardians, by the husband, wife, or next of kin. The Guardians will be bound to allow the burial to be in accordance with the Act.

It is not necessary that the clergyman should consent to a burial under the Act. He can object only to the time proposed, and do that only in certain cases. Unless it be otherwise mutually arranged, burials must be between 10 and 6 o'clock from April 1st to October 1st, and between 10 and 3 from

October 1st to April 1st.

'Amendment Act, 1880.

A burial may take place either without 'any religious service' or 'with such Christian and orderly religious service' at the grave as the person responsible for the burial may think fit, and 'any person or persons'—whether ministers or laymen—who may be invited or authorised, may conduct such service, or take part in any religious act thereat. The words 'Christian service' include 'every religious service used by any church, denomination, or person, professing to be Christian.'

All burials must be decent and orderly, and any one guilty of riotous, violent, or indecent behaviour, or of obstructing any service, will be guilty of a

So also will any person who shall 'deliver any address, not being part of, or incidental to, any religious service' permitted by the Act, or who wilfully endeavours 'to bring into contempt or obloquy the Christian religion, or the belief or worship of any church or denomination of Christians, or the members or any minister of any such church or denomination, or any other person.'

The person having charge of a burial under the Act must, either on the same day or the day after, send to the incumbent or his representative—or, in the case of a cemetery, to the clerk—a certificate of the burial in prescribed

[Some inconvenience has arisen by confounding this certificate of burial with the Registrar's certificate of death. The law in regard to the latter remains as it was previous to the passing of the Act of 1880, except that the Births and Deaths Registration Act, 1874, sec. 17, is amended, in the case of burials under the Act of 1880, and the Registrar's certificate must be delivered, not to the officiating minister, but to the person in charge of the funeral; who, if he so choose, retains it. The Registrar's certificate is not essential to an interment taking place; for the Burials Act of 1880 expressly provides that if the person in charge of the funeral has not received it within seven days after the interment, he must give notice to the Registrar.]

The clergy of the Church of England are at liberty to use the burial service of that Church in any unconsecrated burial-ground, or in the chapel therein. The relatives may have such service performed in unconsecrated ground by any clergyman of the Church of England who may be willing to perform the

In cases where the Church of England service cannot legally be used, and in any other case, at the request of the relatives, the clergy may use some other than the ordinary burial service of the Church of England, provided that it has been approved by the Bishop, and is taken wholly from the Bible and Praver-Book.

The Act of 1880 does not entitle any one to be buried in any place in which he would have no right to be buried if the Act had not passed.

When permission to bury a non-parishioner is given, the service may be conducted under the Act. The incumbent has no legal right to make his consent to the burial of a non-parishioner dependent on the service being conducted by himself, or some other clergyman.

Neither does it affect previously existing regulations or authority in regard to the position of graves, inscriptions on gravestones, &c. The same fees will also have to be paid as though the burial were conducted by a clergyman.

The Act of 1880 applies only to England and Wales and the Channel Islands.

Burial Grounds Act, 1900. - This Act, which received the royal assent July 10th, 1900, and came into operation January 1st, 1901, modifies the Act of 1880 by rendering the forty-eight hours notice no longer necessary in the case of the consecrated parts of parochial cemeteries. The Act does not deal with churchyards. In future, burial boards 'may, if they think fit,' apply to have a portion of the cemetery consecrated; formerly they were compelled to have a portion consecrated. Burial boards are no longer compelled to erect two cemetery chapels, one for Anglicans and one for Nonconformists. They may erect any chapel 'they may consider necessary'; but any chapel so erected 'shall not be consecrated, or reserved for the exclusive use of any denomination.' The payment of fees to an incumbent of a parish will no longer be required 'except for services rendered by him.' In future, when a Nonconformist minister officiates in the consecrated part of a parochial cemetery, he, and not the clergyman, will receive the fee. These provisions apply to cemeteries opened after the passing of the Act. In the case of cemeteries already existing the old fees will continue to be exacted for fifteen years, or on the vacating of the incumbency, whichever is the longer period.

Charitable Trusts, Investments, etc.

Charitable Trusts.—The Acts relating to Charitable Trusts give the Charity Commissioners very extensive jurisdiction over all charitable trusts (except certain exempted charities), and empower the Commissioners to inquire into the management of charities, to oblige their trustees to render accounts, to advise such trustees on the administration of the trusts, to authorise or direct legal proceedings to be taken, to authorise the granting of leases and making of improvements, and raising of money by mortgage, to authorise trustees to remove schoolmasters and other officers, to authorise the sale, exchange, or partitions of lands, to remove and appoint trustees, and to make new schemes for the administration of charities. Among the charities exempted from the operations of these Acts are any buildings registered as places of meeting for religious worship with the Registrar-General of Births, Deaths, and Marriages, and boná fide used as places of meeting for religious worship. Exempted charities can, by application under certain sections of one of the Acts, have the benefits of the Acts extended to them.

Dissenters' Chapels Act.—It is under this Act (7 & 8 Vict., c. 45), passed 19th July, 1844, that many of the old Presbyterian Chapels are secured to the Unitarians. The Act provides in substance that where there is no express statement in the deed of foundation as to the particular doctrines for which a chapel was to be employed, twenty-five years' usage shall be conclusive.

Dissenters in Established Church Pulpits.—The Act by which it is considered that the Clergy are restrained from inviting Dissenters to occupy their pulpits is the Act of Uniformity of 1662 (13 & 14 Car. II., c. 14). By this Act no one may act or preach as a lecturer (in which capacity it is conceived a Dissenter or layman would appear, if so invited to preach) without a licence from the Bishop, and it has been decided that the discretion of the Bishop to grant or withhold his licence cannot be questioned. Any lecturer who acts in contravention of this enactment "shall suffer three months' imprisonment without bail or mainprize." No penalty, however, appears to be incurred by a parson inviting or permitting an unlicensed lecturer to use his pulpit; though a Bishop who grants a licence to anyone who has not first subscribed to the Three Articles concerning "the King's supremacy, the Book of Common Prayer, and the 39 Articles," will have to suffer the serious inconvenience of being suspended from giving licences to preach for the space of twelve months.

Land, Gifts and Sales of.—The law relating to gifts and sales of land and other property for charitable uses (amongst which are included the erection of chapels, schools, &c.), has been recently consolidated by the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict., cap. 42) and the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1891 (54 & 55 Vict., c. 73), but is still very complicated. No attempt should be made to give effect to sales of more than two acres of land, or to gifts for such purposes without competent legal advice. Land not exceeding two acres in extent may be conveyed to "trustees on behalf of any society or body of persons associated together for religious purposes," "for the erection thereon of a building for such purposes," "or whereon a building used or intended to be used for such purposes has been erected," without any special formalities, provided that such conveyance be made in good faith, for full and valuable consideration. It is no longer necessary to enrol either the conveyance or the deed declaring the trusts, though the trustees may enrol such deed if they think fit. Any property, except lands, tenements and hereditaments, and personal property directed to be laid out in them, may be assured to charity, either for value or as a gift, and either by deed or will, without restriction of any kind.

Oaths Act, 1888.—The Act to amend the Law as to Oaths, passed on the 24th December, 1888, enacts that every person upon objecting to being sworn, and stating, as the ground of such objection, either that he has no religious belief, or that the taking of an oath is contrary to his religious belief, shall be permitted to make his solemn affirmation instead of taking an oath, in all places and for all purposes where an oath is or shall be required by law, which affirmation shall be of the same force and effect as if he had taken the oath. Every such affirmation shall be as follows:—"I, A. B., do solemnly, sincerely, and truly declare and affirm," and then proceed with the words of the oath prescribed by law, omitting any words of imprecation or calling to witness. If any person to whom an oath is administered desires to swear with uplifted hand in the form and manner in which an oath is usually administered in Scotland, he shall be permitted to do so, and the oath shall be administered to him in such form and manner without further question.

Rates, Exemption from.—By 3 & 4 Will. IV., cap. 30, all churches, chapels, meeting-houses, or premises exclusively appropriated to public religious worship, and which are duly certified for such purpose, are exempted from the payment of Poor and Church rates. But such parts of the premises as are not so exclusively appropriated, and from which any rent, profit, or advantage is received, are liable to be rated. By the Public Health Act 1875 the incumbent or minister of any building already exempt by law from poor rates shall not be liable to rates for paving, sewering, or lighting. The provisions of this Act do not apply to the Metropolis. By 32 & 33 Vict., cap. 40, authorities having power to levy any rate may exempt any building used exclusively as a Sunday-school or Ragged-school. The exemption is in the option of the authorities.

Recent Statutes.—The Acts of Parliament of 55 & 56 Vict. may be usefully consulted on the following subjects:-Chapter 11, Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act Amendment; Chapter 15, Charity Inquiries (Expenses); Chapter 23, Foreign Marriage; Chapter 32, Clergy Discipline Act, 1892.

Registers, Dissenting, of Births, Baptisms, Marriages, Deaths, and Burials.—These registers and records, which were collected, examined and approved by a Royal Commission, are now deposited in the custody of the Registrar-General, at the Non-Parochial Register Office, Somerset House, London, which, for the purposes of the Act of 3 & 4 Vict., c. 92, is deemed a branch or part of the General Register Office. Searches and extracts from these registers and records will be granted on every day except Sundays, Christmas Day, and Good Friday, between the hours of ten and four, upon personal application only, and payment of legal fees. Applications by letter for search or extract cannot be complied with. Persons residing in the country, therefore, who may require searches of certificates, must, of necessity, apply te a friend in London, or employ an agent. All other communications by letter, on the subject of the above-mentioned registers and records, must be addressed to the "Registrar-General, General Register Office, London;" and it is requested that the words "Non-Parochial Registers" may be written on the outside of all such letters, the postage of which may be left unpaid. The fee for each search is 1s., and for each certificate, 2s. 6d.

Sites for Chapels.—By the Places of Worship Sites' Act, 1873, amended by an Act of 1883, owners of settled estates, corporations, and officers, trustees, and commissioners holding land for public purposes, are empowered, with certain limitations, to grant sites for places of religious worship, residence for ministers, and burial grounds.

Trustees' Incorporation Act.—35 & 36 Vict., c. 24.—This Act, entitl "An Act to facilitate the Incorporation of Trustees of Charities for Religious Educational, Literary, Scientific, and Public Charitable Purposes, and to Enrolment of certain Charitable Trust-Deeds," was passed 27th June, 18. The object of the Act is to facilitate the incorporation of the charitindicated in the title, and to diminish the expense of enrolment under an Apassed in the thirtieth year of the reign of Her present Majesty. Owing the option of granting a certificate being by the Act vested in the Charitonian Commissioners for England and Wales, and to the latter having held the such certificate should be refused in cases where the property might be vest in the official trustee of the Commissioners under the Charity Commissi Acts, the Incorporation Act has become practically useless.

Trustees Investments by.—The Trustee Act, 1893, consolidates t various enactments relating to trustees. The first part relates to invements, and as to these it is (inter alia) enacted that a trustee may, unlexpressly forbidden by the instrument (if any) creating the trust, and subjeto any consent required by such instrument, in addition to the powers of ferred thereby, invest any trust funds in his hands, whether at the time in state of investment or not, as follows:—

Addis, W. E., M.A.

CHRISTIANITY AND THE ROMAN EMPIRE. Cloth 2/6 net.

The Review of Reviews says:—'The daily crop of small manuals seldom inspires any great respect, but Mr. Addis's manual is an exceptionally good little work. He deals with many points, and puts many things, people and events in their right places, all within a few pages; and yet the result is a real book, not a mass of notes. He writes on the condition of the Roman Empire, the diffusion of Christianity, the legal position of Christians, the Apologiste, the Gnostics, and internal changes in the Christian body. There is considerable eleverness in the choice and arrangement of the materials, and Mr. Addis is also scrupulously fair-minded.'

ELIZABETH FRY, the Prisoner's Friend. A short biography. Cloth 8d. net.

The author says: 'The following short account of Elizabeth Fry, with quotations from her writings, gathered mainly from her memoirs, was given by the author in part to a class of Sunday scholars, without, at first, any idea of publication. Mrs. Fry belonged to the peace-loving sect of Friends, by some termed Quakers; but the stream of her religious ardour and sympathy flowed far beyond its bounds. Various interesting books have been written about her; but I have ventured to publish this little sketch in the hope it may convey some impulse toward good, some better appreciation of the life and labours of one who, like the Master she devotedly loved and served, went about doing good.'

Carpenter, J. Estlin, M.A.

THE FIRST THREE GOSPELS: THEIR ORIGIN AND RELATIONS.
Second edition. Cloth 3/6 net. Half morocco, 7/6 net.

'It is certainly no ordinary text-book, and the public at large would do well to read it and ponder some of the problems it suggests. The real interest lies in the patient and, to the reader, fascinating endeavour which he makes to get behind the Gospels, and behind the Church, to the actual words of Jesus, and to the facts out of which the Church sprang. Nothing can be more interesting. —Mrs. Humphry Ward in Nineteenth Century.

LIFE IN PALESTINE WHEN JESUS LIVED, Fourth edition. Ninth thousand. Cloth 1/- net. Postage 3d.

The Schoolmaster says: 'This is perhaps the best shilling's worth of information on the Holy Land that we ever came across. Carefully written, a pleasing subject has been surrounded with additional interest, and a useful handbook to the first three gospels is now ready for public perusal. It does not require to read more than half-a-dozen pages to feel that our attention is not likely to flag during the rest of the volume. The country, people, Government, and religion are all discussed in turn—nothing hurried or curtailed, every sub-division given its due share, and the result is a whole upon which the author may fairly be congratulated. It only needs that the book have a good sale to be appreciated as we feel it.

Cooke, Frances E.

THEOPHILUS LINDSEY AND HIS FRIENDS. Cloth 1/- net.

'The stories of Lindsey and his friend Dr. Priestley, which are combined in this little volume, are almost unknown to young people of the present day. Yet, because of their faithfulness to duty and fearless search after truth, these men should be lasting examples for all time, and should appeal to the reverence even of those who differ from them in opinion.—

Preface.

NOBLE WORKERS Cloth 1/- net. Postage 3d.

Short sketches of lives of Dr. Chalmers, Mary Ware, Thomas Thrush, Michael Angelo Buonarroti, Frederick Christopher Perthes, Catherine Cappe, John Withers Dowson, Joseph Sturge, and William Lloyd Garrison.

STORY OF THEODORE PARKER. Second edition, Cloth 1/- net.

'Although written for young people, there is much in this volume to attract those of maturer years, and teachers who are earnest in their work will find much to interest them in the career of Parker, himself a teacher, in whose heart the love of children was great to the overflow.' Schoolmaster.

STORY OF WILLIAM ELLERY CHANNING. Cloth 1/- net.

'The story of Dr. Channing told for boys and girls, terse, plain, pointed and attractive, a book which is sure to find its way into many of our young folks' Libraries and should be omitted from no School Library."—Unity.

THE STORY OF JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER, the American

Poet. Cloth, 1/- net. Postage 2d.

The Christian World says: 'It was a good idea to write the story of Whittier, so that young people should be stimulated by its beauty and interest. This is here done in a brief and unpretentious way, which should achieve its object, and form an excellent preparation for a fuller study of the man and his work.

THE STORY OF ST. FRANCIS OF ASSISI. Cloth 1/- net. Postage 2d.

'Perhaps now, more than ever,' Miss Cooke says in a brief introductory note, 'we need the kindling influence of great aims and lofty ideals, and it would surely be well for ourselves and for the world about us if we were to try to carry the spirit of St. Francis into our daily lives.

THE STORY OF DOROTHEA LYNDE DIX. Cloth 1/- net.

The New Age says: 'Miss Francis E. Cooke is a well-known writer of short biographies, and she has just added to the list a delightful story of the life and work of Dorothea Dix. The story of the noble devotion and self-sacrifice of this brave, beautiful soul is told in a way that cannot fail to do anyone good who reads it. The magnificent work done for the poor and friendless lunatics by Dorothea Dix places her in the front rank of the world's latter-day saints. We cordially commend this admirably printed little book to all who love courage and care for goodness.'

Crosskey, Henry W., LL.D., F.G.S.

THE METHOD OF CREATION. A comparison of the Book of Nature with the Book of Genesis. Cloth 1/- net.

The very free criticism of the book of Genesis here given is likely to offend some old-fashioned teachers, but it will be owing to their having fallen behind the age. The views inculcated are those of the best scientific writers, and we rejoice that so sensibly written a little manual is accessible. It should be in large demand, for it supplies a readable and easily-grasped explanation of the main difficulties that occur to the mind in reading the Mosaic account of the Creation.'-Literary World.

Davis, Valentine D., B.A.

PHILEMON. Explained and Illustrated. Cloth 1/- net.

TWELVE HYMNS AND THEIR WRITERS. Biographical Sketches and Lesson Notes. Cloth, 1/- net. Postage 3d.

Revised by Miss Colenso. Cloth 1/- net. Postage 3d.

PREFACE.

The chief alteration in the present edition of the Year Book, compared with previous issues, will be found in the list of Ministers. In addition to the name and address, particulars of education, college career, university degrees, and places of settlement are given. The editor is greatly indebted to the large majority of ministers for the prompt and careful way in which they filled up and returned the forms; if a small minority would take thought and mend their ways, it ought to be possible next year to publish an accurate and complete record.

The names of 373 ministers are included in the list; a few of these are classed as lay-workers, on account of their not having received any special training for the ministry, or because they themselves do not desire to be regarded as ministers.

The following names appear in the list of ministers for the first time:—James Burton, M.A., David R. Davies, John Evans, B.A., R. P. Farley, B.A., Edgar Lockett, John McCleery, Frederick B. Mott, R. Newell, Charles Read, M.D., A. E. Rump, J. H. Smith, Alfred Thompson, and Joseph Worthington. Revs. E. I. Fripp, B.A., and F. A. Homer reappear in the list.

The list of Congregations contains 373 places of worship,—287 in England, 39 in Ireland, 7 in Scotland, and 33 in Wales. The building at Strangeways, Manchester, has been closed, and a new movement opened at Higher Broughton. New movements at Child's Hill, London, and St. Helens, near Liverpool, were started during 1903.

The Essex Hall Hymnal, in its older or Revised edition, is used by 154 congregations; 'Hymns of Praise and Prayer' by 62; 'Hymns for the Christian Church and Home' by 49. In Ireland 23 congregations use 'Hymns for Christian Worship'; in Wales, 21 use 'Pearls of Praise.' Liturgies are used by 114 congregations.

There are 325 Sunday Schools,—255 in England, 35 in Ireland, 7 in Scotland, and 28 in Wales.

The pages devoted to Liberal Religion in Foreign Countries, along with the list of newspapers, will be read with interest. The meetings of the International Council in London in 1901, and at Amsterdam in 1903, have widened the outlook and enlarged the sympathies of Unitarians in England and America, and brought them into closer touch with a world movement of liberal religious thought and work. The new and extended work of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association is helping in the same direction at home and abroad.

List of Ministers.

The list contains the name and address, college, degree, congregations with whom they have been settled, of (a) ministers of Unitarian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-subscribing Churches and Mission Stations in Great Britain and Ireland; (b) ministers formerly so settled, not having been merely lay-workers, not connected with any other denomination, who have not withdrawn from the profession; (c) alumni of M.C.O. and H.M.C. who desire to settle as ministers of congregations.

The following contractions are used:—M.N.C.=Manchester New College (altered in 1893 to Manchester College, M.C.O.), Oxford; H.M.C.=Unitarian Home Missionary College (altered from Board in 1889), Manchester.

The names of ministers not in charge of any congregation, and not definitely employed as tutors, secretaries, district missionaries, editors, are printed in italics. Several of those whose names appear in italics, on account of age or infirmity, or for other reasons, do not desire a settlement.

List of Congregations,

The list includes (a) all duly organised Unitarian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-subscribing Congregations and Missions in Great Britain and Ireland; (b) Pioneer movements holding regular meetings for worship; (c) Chapels or other places of worship closed at present, but not finally given up. 'Founded' means the year in which a congregation was first organised, which is not necessarily the date of the present building. Where two dates are given, the second refers to the present building.

Rev. A. ALTHERR, Bale. Dr. G. LUNGE, Zurich. Prof. E. MONTET, D.D., Geneva. History.—The British and Foreign Unitarian Association was consituted in 1825. It arose out of the union of three Societies supported by Unitarians in all parts of the kingdom: (1) The Unitarian Society or Promoting Christian Knowledge and the Practice of Virtue, by the Distribution of Books, founded in 1791; (2) The Unitarian Fund, established in 1806, which may be regarded as the most important; and (3) The Association for Protecting the Civil Rights of Unitarians, formed in 1819.

Management.—The Association is managed by a representative Comnittee elected annually by the whole body of its members.

Grants of Money.—The Association assists many of the older churches n need of help, it makes grants in aid of new churches, and in the maintenance of missionary work in various places at home and abroad. The whole annual income, derived from collections and subscriptions, is expended in grants of money for missionary objects.

Grants of Pamphlets.—The Committee print and publish, from time time, a great variety of Pamphlets, illustrative of Unitarian Christanity; and grants are freely made to individual inquirers, congregations, nissionary societies, and postal missions. 103,258 pamphlets were disributed in this way during 1902.

Publication of Books.—The Committee also print and publish books of liberal religion and theology. Among recent publications the following may be named: 'The Bible in the 19th Century,' by Rev. J. Estlin Sarpenter, M.A.; 'Emerson,' the Essex Hall Lecture for 1903, by Augustine Birrell, K.C.; 'Converging Lines of Religious Thought,' by Dr. S. H. Mellone; 'The Problem of the Fourth Gospel,' by Dr. J. Warschauer. They have issued a Revised Edition of the Essex Hall Hymnal, also Chant Books for the use of congregations. They publish the Essex Hall Year Book. During the year large numbers of Unitarian Pamphets were printed and circulated, including a new series of 'Home Pages.'

Co-operation with local Associations.—The Committee work in co-operation with the various District and Local Associations in different parts of the country. They have given liberal support in aid of Missionary work in the Manchester District, Northumberland and Durham, the South and West of England, the Midlands, South Wales, London and the South-Eastern counties, and elsewhere.

Foreign Work.—Grants have been given to assist the Unitarian cause n Australia, Belgium, Denmark, Hungary, India, New Zealand, Norway, and other places.

Civil Rights of Unitarians.—The Association guards the civil and religious rights and privileges of Unitarians; for instance, when attempts were made recently to teach Trinitarian and other sectarian doctrines n rate-supported schools, the Committee took an active part in counteracting this retrograde movement.

LIBERAL RELIGION IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

OUTSIDE America, the Colonies, and Hungary, Liberal Religious thinkers d workers do not often call themselves Unitarians, but in many parts of e world there are churches and societies, as well as a large number of dividuals who are in substantial agreement in thought and feeling with e Unitarians of England and of the United States. The following Notes may ove interesting to readers of the Year Book. The Editor will be grateful in any additions or corrections.

America.—The Year Book for 1903 gives a list of 468 Unitarian churches id 560 ministers. The Divinity School at Cambridge, Mass., in connection th the University of Harvard, and the Theological School at Meadville, ... are the two Colleges at which Unitarian Ministers receive their training. ne American Unitarian Association was formally organised on May 25, Its object is 'to diffuse the knowledge and promote the interests of tre Christianity,' and all Unitarian churches are invited to unite and coperate with it for that purpose. Any church or missionary organisation hich has made two successive annual contributions is entitled to representaon by its minister and two other delegates. The headquarters of the Assoation are at 25, Beacon Street, Boston, Mass. President, Rev. Samuel A. liot, D.D.; Secretary, Rev. Charles E. St. John; Treasurer, Mr. Francis Lincoln; Publication Agent, Mr. C. L. Stebbins. There are also nitarian Book Rooms at Chicago, 175, Dearborn Street; New York, 104, ast 20th Street; Philadelphia, 102, South 12th Street; San Francisco, 4, Sutter Street. The National Conference of Unitarian and other pristian Churches owes its organisation to a special meeting of the merican Unitarian Association, held December 7, 1864. It is simply a 'onference.' It 'adopts the existing organisations of the Unitarian body the instruments of its activity, and confines itself to recommending to nem such undertakings and methods as it judges to be in the heart of its instituency.' The Unitarian Association has for seventy-seven years been he executive arm of the Unitarian body, and the working missionary ganisation of the Unitarian churches in America.' The Unitarian Year ook, published at 25, Beacon-street, Boston, Mass., gives full information specting Churches, Ministers, Colleges, and Conferences.

Africa.—Free Protestant Unitarian Church, Hout-street, Cape Town 869-1873). Minister, Rev. Ramsden Balmforth, Daisy Bank, Upper Campreet, Cape Town. The church at Graaff Reinet, of which the Rev. Rawlings, M.A., was minister from 1883 to 1886, has had no minister and a services since the latter date, though Mr. Balmforth conducted services here in October, 1899, and there is a prospect of re-opening the church. Oth these churches sprang from the Dutch Reformed Church. The Comittee of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association have been in correspondence respecting a Unitarian movement at Johannesburg.

Australia.—There are Unitarian churches at the following places:—outh Australia: Adelaide—Rev. John Reid, M.A., Queen-street, Norwood, delaide. Victoria: Melbourne—Rev. R. H. Lambley, M.A., 49, Denhamreet, Hawthorn, Melbourne. New South Wales: Sydney—Rev. George T. Valters, Hyde Park Unitarian Church, Sydney.

Austria.—A considerable number of the Protestant churches are liberal their theology; there is a growing tendency towards what are practically Unitarian views; and the Los von Rom movement, although partly political and social, is liberal in its theological outlook.

Belgium.—There is a Free Christian church at Brussels, 20, rue de la Chancellerie, of which Rev. J. Hocart, 55, rue St. Bernard, St. Gilles, is minister. Mr. Hocart also carries on a Continental Postal Mission under the auspices of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association.

Canada.—In Canada there are five Unitarian congregations, namely, at Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton, and St. John, New Brunswick. The Rev. J. T. Sunderland, M.A., 660, Ontario-street, Toronto, is the correspondent of the British and Foreigh Unitarian Association.

France.—The Liberal Reformed churches hold essentially Unitarian views, and a strong feeling of sympathy exists between them and the Unitarians of England and America. The following is a list of Liberal churches and preachers in Paris:—Central Agency, 20, rue de Vienne; Churches: Oratoire, 147, rue St. Honoré; 184, boulevard St. Germain; 91, boulevard Beaumarchais. Ministers: MM. les Pasteurs Bonet-Maury, 81, rue de Lille; Jean Réville, 4, villa de la Réunion; Roberty, 9, rue des Pyramides; Wagner, 9, boulevard Bourdon; A. Reyss, 29, boulevard Pereire.

Germany.—The German 'Protestantenverein' (Protestant Union) forms the chief bond of union among the Liberal Christians of the Empire. It was formed in 1865, and has about forty branch societies, and about 27,000 members. Missionaries in Japan and in China are supported by the Allgemeine Evangelisch Protestantische Missionsverein, a separate Verein, which unites Liberal Christians and Christians of the middle and some of the orthodox party to missionary work. The Allgemeine Evangelisch Protestantische Missionsverein has its members in Germany and Switzerland.

Holland.—The 'Nederlandsche Protestantenbond' (Protestant Union of Holland) has been established as a converging point for Liberals belonging to every church of the country—Reformed, Lutheran, Remonstrant, Mennonite, and Free. Close intercourse is maintained between the Dutch 'Moderns' and their co-religionists in Bremen and Hamburg, and the interchange of liberal literature aids greatly in the spread of liberal views. The University of Leiden has for some time been the chief educational centre of the free Protestantism of Holland.

Hungary.—Ever since the year 1568 there has existed a fully organised Unitarian Church in Hungary. In the sixteenth century it consisted of more than 400 congregations in Transylvania, and also a considerable number in several parts of Hungary Proper. The number was greatly reduced by protracted and bitter persecution which lasted about 200 years. The present number of Unitarian congregations with ordinary ministers is 110; there are forty to fifty places where the minister of the neighbouring congregation renders occasional services. The oldest congregation is the Kolozsvar one. renders occasional services. The onest congregation in 1869. The There is a congregation at Budapest which was established in 1869. The roll of membership in the churches of Hungary is about 70,000. churches are organised under a Bishop, at present Joseph Ferencz, at Kolozsvár, and two Curators (Wardens). The churches are governed by a representative Consistory at Kolozsvár. A chief Consistory is convened once a year. In the fourth year a Synod is held. Higher education is carried on by the Church in three Colleges. There are at Kolozsvár a theological college, a gymnasium, and two elementary schools. The college was established about 1569 by John Sigismund, Prince of Transylvania. The theoloical college was reorganised in 1896, its Dean being Professor G. Boros. he David Association, which was established in 1884, is doing a good work of the promotion of religious and moral culture; it has upwards of 1,000 embers. In most of the Reformed and Lutheran churches of Hungary ere is a growing tendency towards Liberal opinions in religion.

India.—There are now representatives of the Unitarian faith in several arts of India. Khasi Hills Mission.—There are stations at Jowai, at Nonglong, and other places, at each of which there is a small meeting-house here regular Sunday services are held, and also day and Sunday schools. anda Mission.—Mr. Akbar Masih works chiefly through correspondence, in the publication of tracts and books on Unitarianism. He does not induct any regular services, though he holds occasional conferences and scussions with religious inquirers and opponents. The various sections of the Brahmo Samaj in the Theistic Church of India are Unitarian in their teology. Mr. Promotho Loll Sen, Mr. Bipin Chandra Pel, Mr. Hem Chandra aikar, and Mr. V. R. Shinde have been students at Manchester College, xford, holding Scholarships from the British and Foreign Unitarian sociation.

Italy.—Protestantism in Italy, having been mainly promoted by the aldensian Church, is orthodox in its leanings, but many hold Liberal views, specially in the larger towns, those who break with Catholicism, and mainin a religious connection, are rarely content with the old dogmatic position. rofessor Bracciforti, via Spiga, 33, Milan, has long been identified with the ofession of Unitarian principles which are held also by the senior pastor of a Protestant Church in Milan, via Carlo Porta, 9, Dr. Paira, Corso Venezia, 62. ev. Tony Andre, D.D., is a well-known liberal minister and theologian in orence, 21, Lungo Mugnone.

Japan.—The American Unitarian Association founded a Mission having is headquarters in Unity Hall, Tokyo. It is now supported and worked by te Japanese themselves, and has made great progress in recent years. Japanese scholars trained for the purpose take its services, do the work of the list Office Mission, the translation of Unitarian books, and the editing of a intarian Review.

New Zealand —The Rev. W. Jellie, B.A., Wharipai, Grafton Road, is inster of the Unitarian Church, Auckland; though still supported by a fant from the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, the congregation is made rapid progress towards independence under Mr. Jellie's ministry.

Norway.—Norway has a State Church which is Lutheran, and formally isludes the entire nation. There are very few Dissenting Churches, and these less far only gained ground among the less educated classes. The first hitarian Church in Norway was founded by Kristopher Janson, a Norwayian poet, at Christiania. The Unitarian congregation have recently ivited the Rev. Hermann Hangerud to become their minister. The British de Foreign Unitarian Association have made a grant in aid of the work Christiania.

Spain.—A considerable number of scattered Protestant congregations, are founded under orthodox auspices and others of an unmistakably Liberal tpe, have formed an organisation under the title of the 'Spanish Evangelical furch.' This movement dates from 1886. In several of the large twns the Protestant cause is steadily growing. At Madrid the schools number more than 600 pupils, at Barcelona the Church has 145 members, and the Sunday School is attended by 180 children, at Alicante, Saragossa, Santander and elsewhere there are signs of progress.

Sweden.—The Liberals are, for the most part, Lutherans, retaining their membership of the State Church. The British and Foreign Unitarian Association supported, during 1894-5, the Rev. J. A. Dalén as a Unitarian Missionary in Gothenburg, but the movement was not successful.

Switzerland.—The work of religious reform advances steadily in the Protestant Cantons, especially in Zurich, St. Gall, Geneva, and Basle. The Free Christian Association (Der Verein für freies Christenthum) is the chief bond of union and centre of activity. The popular religious literature issued under its auspices has assisted greatly in spreading the knowledge of Unitarian doctrines, while the free religious organs, especially the recently founded Zeitschrift ans der Schweiz and the old-established Schweizerisches Protestantenblatt, do excellent work in promoting religious enlightenment. It should be borne in mind that the reformers belong to the Landeskirche (Established Church), and thus leaven this with the spirit of Unitarianism.

Tasmania.—Unitarian Services are held at Hobart Town, conducted by laymen. Rev. R. H. Lambley, who visited the church, was gratified by the signs of interest and development in the movement. The Rev. Charles Hargrove, M.A., as the representative of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, will visit Tasmania and other centres in Australasia in 1904.

THE NATIONAL TRIENNIAL CONFERENCE.

'The National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-Subscribing or Kindred Congregations' had its origin in the example set by the Unitarians of the United States of America, who had organized a 'National Conference of Unitarian and other Christian Churches' in 1865. At a Council Meeting of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, held on January 19th, 1881, it was resolved:—'That the Executive Committee be requested to consider the possibility and desirableness of holding a Unitarian Conference in England, and to ascertain the feeling of the larger Congregations, and report to the next Meeting of the Council.' On June 24th, 1881, at the Meeting of the Council, a Committee was formed to make arrangements for a meeting of Ministers and Laymen in some central district for religious fellowship and conference.

MINISTERS' CONFERENCES.

Body of English Presbyterian Ministers in and about the Cities of London and Westminster .- At the beginning of the reign of Charles II. there was an organized community of Presbyterian Ministers who enjoyed the privilege of presenting Petitions and Addresses to the Sovereign. In 1691 the Bodies of Presbyterian and Independent Ministers joined together as 'United Brethren.' Doctrinal differences, however, led to a dissolution of the Union after a few years. Then the Presbyterians styled themselves and were known as 'The Body (or Board) of Presbyterian Ministers in and about the cities of London and Westminster.' In 1702 on the accession of Queen Anne, the three Denominations, viz: the Presbyterian, Independent, and Anti-paedobaptist, formed a Union (each Body, however retaining its separate existence), which was renewed in the following reign, and in 1727 took the title 'The General Body of Protestant Dissenting Ministers of the Three Denominations residing in and about the cities of London and Westminster.' This united Body had the privilege of addressing the Throne. In 1836 in consequence of doctrinal differences the Presbyterians seceded and on the accession of Queen Victoria were permitted to resume their ancient practice, which they have since continued to exercise. of addressing, as a separate Body, the Sovereign in person. The Presbyterian form of government has not been in use among them since the Act of Uniformity. The Meetings of the Body are generally held at Dr. Williams's Library, Gordon-square, London, W.C. Hon. LEGAL INFORMATION.

[From 'A Handbook for Ministers of Religion,' by W. Copeland Bowie.]

Registration of Births and Deaths.

Births.—Parents are required to see to the registration of Births (at the Registrar's office for the district in which they reside) within six weeks, under a penalty of 40s. for default. There is no charge for such registration, unless the Registrar attends, by a written request, at the house of the parents, when he becomes entitled to a fee of 1s. In default of the parents, the occupier of the house in which the child was born, and other persons, are held responsible for giving information to the Registrar. After the lapse of three months from the date of birth, the registration can only be effected by paying fees of

2s. 6d. each to the Registrar and Superintendent-Registrar.

Deaths must be registered within five days, but registration may be delayed for fourteen days provided written information of the death, together with a medical certificate of its cause, be forwarded to the Registrar within five days. The nearest relative present at the death or during the last illness is the responsible person, or should there be no relative present, then the occupier of the house, or the person who causes the body to be buried. Penalty for default, 40s. The doctor's certificate must be produced to the Registrar at the time of registration, and the Registrar's certificate to the officiating Minister at the interment. No fee is payable if the informants attend at the Registrar's office, but he becomes entitled to a fee of 1s. if he attends by request at their houses.

Registration of Chapels.

Ordinary Registration.—All dissenting places of worship should be registered. Registration is effected by giving a certificate in writing that the chapel is used for worship to the Superintendent-Registrar of the District on a form which he will supply on application. The fee on registration is 2s. 6d., and a certified copy of the Registrar-General's certificate of the Registration can be obtained for a further payment of 2s. 6d. The Registers can at any time be inspected at the Superintendent-Registrar's office on payment of a fee of 1s. Registered places of worship are exempt from the provisions of the Charitable Trusts Acts. When a place of worship is rebuilt, either on the same or another site, the old certificate of registration must be cancelled and the place re-registered.

Registration of Chapels for Marriages.—A place of worship must, before marriages can legally be celebrated therein, in addition to being registered as above mentioned, be separately registered for the performance of marriages. Before registering a place for marriages, the Superintendent-Registrar of the district must be satisfied by certificate that the building has been used for worship for one year previous to the application. A fee of £3 is payable, and the Registration is advertised in the London Gazette and in a local newspaper. When a chapel ceases to be used for worship or is rebuilt, the certificate is cancelled, and in that case it requires to be renewed if worship is resumed. When a congregation has removed from one chapel to another, and the old building has ceased to be used as a place of public worship, the certificate of the old chapel may be cancelled, and the new building registered for the solemnisation of marriages, without waiting for a year to elapse. All necessary forms and information will be supplied by the Superintendent-Registrar of the District.

Marriage Laws.

England and Wales.—Marriages may be solemnised in any registered building, or in a district registry office either by certificate or by licence. If by certificate, notice (accompanied with fee of 1s. for entry in 'Marriage Notice Book') must be given by one of the parties, if both live in one district, to the Superintendent-Registrar, on form furnished for purpose, containing solemn declaration of absence of impediment to intended marriage, certifying that one of the parties has dwelt at least seven days in district, and must be signed in presence of Registrar or deputy; but if parties live in different districts, notices must be sent to respective Superintendent-Registrars. Twenty-one clear days after entry of notice the certificate (for which 1s. must be paid) will be granted on application.

The same applies if one party lives in Ireland, only notice must be given on form used in Ireland. If one party lives in Scotland, Scotch certificate of proclamation of banns will be accepted as equal to certificate.

If by licence, though both parties do not dwell in same district, only one need give notice (on a form impressed with a 2s. 6d. stamp), certifying that he or she has resided at least fifteen days in district, though marriage may be held in district of either party. Both parties, however, must be in England at time of notice, though only one clear day is required (unless marriage take place in Ireland with some one there, when seven days are required) between notice and granting of licence. Cost of licence, £2 4s. 6d.

If there be no registered building in the district according to rites or marriage may be held in another district.

If there be no registered building in the district according to rites or ceremonies desired by parties, by endorsing notice with such declaration

If usual 'place of worship' at which ceremony is desired, be out of district of either's dwelling, by inserting words:—'Such building being usual place of worship of said——, and situate not more than two miles beyond limits of

district of ----, certificate will be granted accordingly.

The marriage must take place in registered building specified in certificate, with open doors, between the hours of eight in the morning and three in the afternoon, within three calendar months from day of entry of notice, in presence of Registrar (or his deputy, or, if the Marriage Act of 1898 has been adopted, in the presence of the Authorised person) and two or more credible witnesses besides minister, if any. At some part of ceremony the words must be said:—'I do solemnly declare that I know not of any lawful impediment why I—— may not be joined in matrimony to——'; and each must say to other: 'I call upon these persons here present to witness that I —— do take thee —— to be my lawful wedded wife (or husband)'; without which it is not a marriage.

Registrar's fee for attending marriage by certificate, 5s.; by licence, 10s.;

for copy of certificate, 2s. 6d., and stamp 1d.

Ireland.—Marriages according to the form and discipline of the Presbyterian Church may be celebrated—

1. By special licence;

2. By licence; or

3. After publication of banns.

(1.) In the first case 'Both parties must be members of the same Church as the Moderator who grants the Special Licence,'—that is to say the Remonstrant Synod of Ulster, the Presbytery of Antrim, and the Synod of Munster, are treated as three separate denominations, and the Moderator of each has the privilege of granting special licences to the members of his own body.

(2.) Ordinary licences can be granted when only one of the parties is a Presbyterian. Each Presbytery is authorised to appoint, subject to the approval of the Lord Lieutenant, a sufficient number of Presbyterian ministers to issue licences for marriage in meeting-houses duly certified, in connection with the Presbytery.

Anyone wishing to obtain a licence must, seven days before the licence shall be delivered to him or her, produce to the licensing minister a certificate from the minister of the congregation of which he or she shall be a member and has been a member for at least one calendar month preceding. This congregation must be in connection with the Presbytery to which the licensing minister belongs.

(3.) When both parties are Presbyterians, marriages may be celebrated after the banns have been proclaimed for three Sundays in the Presbyterian meeting-houses attended by each of the parties.

The presence of the Registrar is not required at a marriage celebrated in a place of worship whether Presbyterian or otherwise.

Scotland.—The ceremony can be performed by the minister of any denomination, in any place, at any time, with or without any particular form. The law has been amended so as to put an end, as far as possible, to what were known as 'irregular' marriages. Legal notice must now be given to the Registrar of the parish or district, as in England, the names of the contracting parties being exhibited for seven days on the notice board outside the office of the Registrar in whose district the parties have resided for at least fifteen days immediately preceding. At the expiration of the period named a certificate will be granted, and on this the marriage may take place either in a church or elsewhere. Any person who has resided for at least twenty-one days in Scotland may be married by going to the Registrar's office in which he or she may reside, accompanied by two witnesses who can certify as to the term of residence, and exchanging written contract with the other party, afterwards proceeding to the County Sheriff's chambers to have the marriage registered.

Burial Laws.

By the common law of England every parishioner is entitled to be puried in the churchyard of his parish, and for this purpose every person is a parishioner of the purish in which he dies. Prior to the Burial Act of 1880, the burial service of the Church of England was the only one which might be read in churchyards or other consecrated ground.

The notice of an intention to bury, in either churchyards or the consecrated parts of parochial cemeteries, should be given with as little delay as possible, and must not be later than forty-eight hours before the time proposed for the burial. The notice may be given by any relative, friend relative having charge of, or being responsible for, the burial. He may be the minister who will conduct the service, or the undertaker, if duly authorised.

The Notice must be in writing; must be endorsed on the outside 'Notice of Burial'; must be signed with the name and address of the person giving it,

and be in the form, or to the effect, following:-

'I , of , being the relative [or 'friend, or legal representative, as the case may be, describing the relation.

'if a relative], having the charge of, or being responsible for, the burial of 'A. B., of , who died at , in the parish 'of , on the day of , do hereby 'give you notice that it is intended by me that the body of the said A. B. 'shall be buried within the [here describe the churchyard or graveyard in 'which the body is to be buried] on the day of , at the hour of , without the performance in the manner prescribed 'by law of the service for the burial of the dead according to the rites of the 'Church of England; and I give this notice pursuant to the Burial Laws

'To the Rector [or, as the case may be] of [N.B.—While it is desirable to keep to this form, the person receiving it will not be at liberty to object to its sufficiency because the exact words are not used; the Act only requiring that the notice shall be in the form, 'or to the effect,' of the above.

In the case of a churchyard, the notice is to be left at the house of the clergyman, or, in his absence, of the clergyman in charge of the parish, or of any person appointed to receive such notices.

In the case of a parochial cemetery, if there is a chaplain for the consecrated ground, the notice is to be addressed to him, but is to be left at the office of the Clerk of the Burial Board.

In the case of a pauper, notice may be given to the incumbent, or the chaplain, and also to the master of the workhouse, or to the clerk to the Guardians, by the husband, wife, or next of kin. The Guardians will be bound to allow the burial to be in accordance with the Act.

It is not necessary that the clergyman should consent to a burial under the Act. He can object only to the time proposed, and do that only in certain cases. Unless it be otherwise mutually arranged, burials must be between 10 and 6 o'clock from April 1st to October 1st, and between 10 and 3 from

October 1st to April 1st.

'Amendment Act, 1880.

A burial may take place either without 'any religious service' or 'with such Christian and orderly religious service' at the grave as the person responsible for the burial may think fit, and 'any person or persons'—whether ministers or laymen—who may be invited or authorised, may conduct such service, or take part in any religious act thereat. The words 'Christian service' include 'every religious service used by any church, denomination, or person, professing to be Christian.'

All burials must be decent and orderly, and any one guilty of riotous, violent, or indecent behaviour, or of obstructing any service, will be guilty of a misdemeanour.

So also will any person who shall 'deliver any address, not being part of, or incidental to, any religious service' permitted by the Act, or who wilfully endeavours 'to bring into contempt or obloquy the Christian religion, or the belief or worship of any church or denomination of Christians, or the members or any minister of any such church or denomination, or any other person.'

The person having charge of a burial under the Act must, either on the same day or the day after, send to the incumbent or his representative—or, in the case of a cemetery, to the clerk—a certificate of the burial in prescribed form.

'I, , of , the person having the charge 'of [or, being responsible for] the burial of the deceased, do hereby certify 'that on the day of , 190 ,

, aged , was buried in the churchyard [or graveyard] of the parish [or district] of

To the Rector [or, as the case may be] of

Some inconvenience has arisen by confounding this certificate of burial with the Registrar's certificate of death. The law in regard to the latter remains as it was previous to the passing of the Act of 1880, except that the Births and Deaths Registration Act, 1874, sec. 17, is amended, in the case of burials under the Act of 1880, and the Registrar's certificate must be delivered, not to the officiating minister, but to the person in charge of the funeral; who, if he so choose, retains it. The Registrar's certificate is not essential to an interment taking place; for the Burials Act of 1880 expressly provides that if the person in charge of the funeral has not received it within seven days after the interment, he must give notice to the Registrar.]

The clergy of the Church of England are at liberty to use the burial service of that Church in any unconsecrated burial-ground, or in the chapel therein. The relatives may have such service performed in unconsecrated ground by any clergyman of the Church of England who may be willing to perform the same.

In cases where the Church of England service cannot legally be used, and in any other case, at the request of the relatives, the clergy may use some other than the ordinary burial service of the Church of England, provided that it has been approved by the Bishop, and is taken wholly from the Bible and Prayer-Book.

The Act of 1880 does not entitle any one to be buried in any place in which he would have no right to be buried if the Act had not passed.

When permission to bury a non-parishioner is given, the service may be conducted under the Act. The incumbent has no legal right to make his consent to the burial of a non-parishioner dependent on the service being conducted by himself, or some other clergyman.

Neither does it affect previously existing regulations or authority in regard to the position of graves, inscriptions on gravestones, &c. The same fees will also have to be paid as though the burial were conducted by a clergyman.

The Act of 1880 applies only to England and Wales and the Channel Islands.

Burial Grounds Act, 1900 .- This Act, which received the royal assent July 10th, 1900, and came into operation January 1st, 1901, modifies the Act of 1880 by rendering the forty-eight hours notice no longer necessary in the case of the consecrated parts of parochial cemeteries. The Act does not deal with churchyards. In future, burial boards 'may, if they think fit,' apply to have a portion of the cemetery consecrated; formerly they were compelled to have a portion consecrated. Burial boards are no longer compelled to erect two cemetery chapels, one for Anglicans and one for Nonconformists. They may erect any chapel 'they may consider necessary'; but any chapel so erected 'shall not be consecrated, or reserved for the exclusive use of any denomination.' The payment of fees to an incumbent of a parish will no longer be required 'except for services rendered by him.' In future, when a Nonconformist minister officiates in the consecrated part of a parochial cemetery, he, and not the clergyman, will receive the fee. These provisions apply to cemeteries opened after the passing of the Act. In the case of cemeteries already existing the old fees will continue to be exacted for fifteen years, or on the vacating of the incumbency, whichever is the longer period.

Charitable Trusts, Investments, etc.

Charitable Trusts.—The Acts relating to Charitable Trusts give the Charity Commissioners very extensive jurisdiction over all charitable trusts (except certain exempted charities), and empower the Commissioners to inquire into the management of charities, to oblige their trustees to render accounts, to advise such trustees on the administration of the trusts, to authorise or direct legal proceedings to be taken, to authorise the granting of leases and making of improvements, and raising of money by mortgage, to authorise trustees to remove schoolmasters and other officers, to authorise the sale, exchange, or partitions of lands, to remove and appoint trustees, and to make new schemes for the administration of charities. Among the charities exempted from the operations of these Acts are any buildings registered as places of meeting for religious worship with the Registrar-General of Births, Deaths, and Marriages, and bonâ side used as places of meeting for religious worship. Exempted charities can, by application under certain sections of one of the Acts, have the benefits of the Acts extended to them.

Dissenters' Chapels Act.—It is under this Act (7 & 8 Vict., c. 45), passed 19th July, 1844, that many of the old Presbyterian Chapels are secured to the Unitarians. The Act provides in substance that where there is no express statement in the deed of foundation as to the particular doctrines for which a chapel was to be employed, twenty-five years' usage shall be conclusive.

Dissenters in Established Church Pulpits.—The Act by which it is considered that the Clergy are restrained from inviting Dissenters to occupy their pulpits is the Act of Uniformity of 1662 (13 & 14 Car. II., c. 14). By this Act no one may act or preach as a lecturer (in which capacity it is conceived a Dissenter or layman would appear, if so invited to preach) without a licence from the Bishop, and it has been decided that the discretion of the Bishop to grant or withhold his licence cannot be questioned. Any lecturer who acts in contravention of this enactment "shall suffer three months' imprisonment without bail or mainprize." No penalty, however, appears to be incurred by a parson inviting or permitting an unlicensed lecturer to use his pulpit; though a Bishop who grants a licence to anyone who has not first subscribed to the Three Articles concerning "the King's supremacy, the Book of Common Prayer, and the 39 Articles," will have to suffer the serious inconvenience of being suspended from giving licences to preach for the space of twelve months.

Land, Gifts and Sales of.—The law relating to gifts and sales of land and other property for charitable uses (amongst which are included the erection of chapels, schools, &c.), has been recently consolidated by the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict., cap. 42) and the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1891 (54 & 55 Vict., c. 73), but is still very complicated. No attempt should be made to give effect to sales of more than two acres of land, or to gifts for such purposes without competent legal advice. Land not exceeding two acres in extent may be conveyed to "trustees on behalf of any society or body of persons associated together for religious purposes," "for the erection thereon of a building for such purposes," "or whereon a building fused or intended to be used for such purposes has been erected," without any special formalities, provided that such conveyance be made in good faith, for full and valuable consideration. It is no longer necessary to enrol either the conveyance or the deed declaring the trusts, though the trustees may enrol such deed if they think fit. Any property, except lands, tenements and hereditaments, and personal property directed to be laid out in them, may be assured to charity, either for value or as a gift, and either by deed or will, without restriction of any kind.

Oaths Act, 1888.—The Act to amend the Law as to Oaths, passed on the 24th December, 1888, enacts that every person upon objecting to being sworn, and stating, as the ground of such objection, either that he has no religious belief, or that the taking of an oath is contrary to his religious belief. shall be permitted to make his solemn affirmation instead of taking an oath, in all places and for all purposes where an oath is or shall be required by law, which affirmation shall be of the same force and effect as if he had taken the oath. Every such affirmation shall be as follows:-" I, A. B., do solemnly, sincerely, and truly declare and affirm," and then proceed with the words of the oath prescribed by law, omitting any words of imprecation or calling to witness. If any person to whom an oath is administered desires to swear with uplifted hand in the form and manner in which an oath is usually administered in Scotland, he shall be permitted to do so, and the oath shall be administered to him in such form and manner without further question.

Rates, Exemption from .- By 3 & 4 Will. IV., cap. 30, all churches, chapels, meeting-houses, or premises exclusively appropriated to public religious worship, and which are duly certified for such purpose, are exempted from the payment of Poor and Church rates. But such parts of the premises as are not so exclusively appropriated, and from which any rent, profit, or advantage is received, are liable to be rated. By the Public Health Act 1875 the incumbent or minister of any building already exempt by law from poor rates shall not be liable to rates for paving, sewering, or lighting. The provisions of this Act do not apply to the Metropolis. By 32 & 33 Vict., cap. 40, authorities having power to levy any rate may exempt any building used exclusively as a Sunday-school or Ragged-school. The exemption is in the option of the authorities.

Recent Statutes.—The Acts of Parliament of 55 & 56 Vict. may be usefully consulted on the following subjects:-Chapter 11, Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act Amendment; Chapter 15, Charity Inquiries (Expenses); Chapter 23, Foreign Marriage; Chapter 32, Clergy Discipline Act, 1892.

Registers, Dissenting, of Births, Baptisms, Marriages, Deaths, and Burials.—These registers and records, which were collected, examined and approved by a Royal Commission, are now deposited in the custody of the Registrar-General, at the Non-Parochial Register Office, Somerset House, London, which, for the purposes of the Act of 3 & 4 Vict., c. 92, is deemed a branch or part of the General Register Office. Searches and extracts from these registers and records will be granted on every day except Sundays, Christmas Day, and Good Friday, between the hours of ten and four, upon personal application only, and payment of legal fees. Applications by letter for search or extract cannot be complied with. Persons residing in the country, therefore, who may require searches of certificates, must, of necessity, apply to a friend in London, or employ an agent. All other communications by letter, on the subject of the above-mentioned registers and records, must be addressed to the "Registrar-General, General Register Office, London;" and it is requested that the words "Non-Parochial Registers" may be written on the outside of all such letters, the postage of which may be left unpaid. The fee for each search is 1s., and for each certificate, 2s. 6d.

Sites for Chapels.—By the Places of Worship Sites' Act, 1873, amended by an Act of 1883, owners of settled estates, corporations, and officers, trustees, nd commissioners holding land for public purposes, are empowered, within ertain limitations, to grant sites for places of religious worship, residences by ministers, and burial grounds.

Trustees' Incorporation Act.—35 & 36 Vict., c. 24.—This Act, entitled An Act to facilitate the Incorporation of Trustees of Charities for Religious, Iducational, Literary, Scientific, and Public Charitable Purposes, and the Incolment of certain Charitable Trust-Deeds," was passed 27th June, 1872. The object of the Act is to facilitate the incorporation of the charities adicated in the title, and to diminish the expense of enrolment under an Act assed in the thirtieth year of the reign of Her present Majesty. Owing to the option of granting a certificate being by the Act vested in the Charity commissioners for England and Wales, and to the latter having held that uch certificate should be refused in cases where the property might be vested a the official trustee of the Commissioners under the Charity Commission acts, the Incorporation Act has become practically useless.

Trustees Investments by.—The Trustee Act, 1893, consolidates the various enactments relating to trustees. The first part relates to investments, and as to these it is (inter alia) enacted that a trustee may, unless expressly forbidden by the instrument (if any) creating the trust, and subject o any consent required by such instrument, in addition to the powers conerred thereby, invest any trust funds in his hands, whether at the time in a state of investment or not, as follows:—

Addis, W. E., M.A.

CHRISTIANITY AND THE ROMAN EMPIRE. Cloth 2/6 net.

The Review of Reviews says:—'The daily crop of small manuals seldom inspires any great respect, but Mr. Addis s manual is an exceptionally good kittle work. He deals with many points, and puts many things, people and events in their right places, all within a few pages: and yet the result is a real book, not a mass of notes. He writes on the condition of the Roman Empire, the diffusion of Christianity, the legal position of Christians, the Apologists, the Gnosties, and internal changes in the Christian body. There is considerable eleverness in the choice and arrangement of the materials, and Mr. Addis is also scrupulously fair-minded.'

COME TO ME O YE CHILDREN. Twelve Pulpit Talks to Boys and Girls. Cloth 2/- net.

'Mr. Armstrong has published various books that reveal him as the profound thinker and enlightened theologian. But nothing from his pen is comparable in the bestowal of unalloyed delight, to this little book, which reveals him as the lover and kindly instructor of young people. In his "talks" he guides them towards paths of thought for the traversing of which it is well they should be prepared; and often in such a manner that they are at the very heart of some literary or historical masterpiece, and are learning its soul-lesson before they realise that they are not reading or listening to some mere interesting fairy tale.'—Liverpool l'ost

ELIZABETH FRY, the Prisoner's Friend. A short biography. Cloth 8d. net.

Cloth 3d. Ret.

The author says: 'The following short account of Elizabeth Fry, with quotations from her writings, gathered mainly from her memors, was given by the author in part to a class of Sunday scholars, without, at first any idea of publication. Mrs. Fry belonged to the peace-loving sect of Friends, by some termed Quakers; but the stream of her religious ardour and sympathy flowed far beyond its bounds. Various interesting books have been written about her; but I have ventured to publish this little sketch in the hope it may convey some impulse foward good, some better appreciation of the life and labours of one who, like the Master she devotedly loved and served, went about doing good.'

Carpenter, J. Estlin, M.A.

THE FIRST THREE GOSPELS: THEIR ORIGIN AND RELATIONS. Second edition. 3/6 net.

'It is certainly no ordinary text-book, and the public at large would do well to read it and ponder some of the problems it suggests. The real interest lies in the patient and, to the reader, fascinating endeavour which he makes to get behind the Gospels, and behind the Church, to the actual words of Jesus, and to the facts out of which the Church sprangs. Nothing can be more interesting.'—Mrs. Humphry Ward in Nineteenth Century.

LIFE IN PALESTINE WHEN JESUS LIVED. Fourth edition. Ninth thousand. Cloth 1/- net. Postage 3d.

The Schoolmaster says: 'This is perhaps the best shilling's worth of information on the Holy Land that we ever came across. Carefully written, a pleasing subject has been surrounded with additional interest, and a useful handbook to the first three gospels is now ready for public perusal. It does not require to read more than half-a-dozen pages to feel that our attention is not likely to flag during the rest of the volume. The country people, Government, and religion are all discussed in turn—nothing hurried or curtailed, every sub-division given its due share, and the result is a whole upon which the author may fairly be congratulated. It only needs that the book have a good sale to be appreciated as we feel it.

THE METHOD OF CREATION. A comparison of the Book of Nature with the Book of Genesis. Cloth 1/- net.

The views inculcated are those of the best scientific writers, and we rejoice that so sensibly written a little manual is accessible. It should be in large demand, for it supplies a readable and easily-grasped explanation of the main difficulties that occur to the mind in reading the Mosaic account of the Creation.'-Literary World.
